Taryn-

well I guess your worthy of my signature. I think you and GQ make a good couple. You're really nice and
I'm glad we became friends.
Well I'll see you this summer.
Have a great one.

Taryn- It was great having you in computers and Gregorio. You made them so fun!
I'm glad we have become friends
this year! call me

Celebrate The Crown

The White House towering in the background and the President of the United States standing only ten feet away: such images came alive for Dr. Dennis Evans in Washington D.C. where he received an award recognizing CdM for its exemplary contribution to education. This award, presented to only 213 schools in the nation, is just one of the brilliant gems which enhance CdM's crown.

"We are really fortunate," commented one senior. "We have so many opportunities in which to participate: sports, clubs, and activities. We also have incredible teachers and administrators who are willing to put in extra hours to provide additional help in difficult subjects."

Worthy of celebration too is the fantastic community involvement which affects almost all students. Such groups as Super Boosters and PTA help CdM reach many goals not otherwise attainable.

Most of all, CdM students have outstanding pride in their school, a quality definitely worth celebrating. So come CELEBRATE THE CROWN, the excellence of an exemplary student body and school. 🌟

“Sea Kings are number one, and don’t you forget it!” This well known cheer represents the endless spirit of the cheerleaders and the fans at football games and other sports events. A school band played at many home games to promote school spirit. Also, a new spirit club, “Club Corona Extra,” headed by Roy Hobbs and Steve Muzzy, contributed to the tremendous amount of effort put forth by the Sea Kings. Club Corona Extra created involvement by “bringing spirit to the whole school through the unity and enthusiasm of the senior class,” according to Roy. The athletes believe that such enthusiasm helped to make this an excellent year. “The cheering of the crowd encouraged me to do my best,” commented water polo player, Greg Rhodes. This year the students of Corona del Mar celebrate all the times the Sea Kings have been number one, because “these are special times,” said tennis player, Denise Mallos. Whether or not our team consistently remains number one, however, does not matter. Showing good sportsmanship and striving for personal goals, as well as team goals, will always remain the most important aim for the Sea Kings. Every sports team at CdM, from badminton to football, should celebrate success this year, because CdM “is proud of you!” 🏆

1. Although the score board showed CdM losing 13-7, a spirited crowd creates unity to cheer their team to victory. 2. Motivated by Coach Holland’s pep talk during halftime, the varsity football players sprint toward the cheerleaders’ colorful sign. 3. Varsity and J.V. cheerleaders join spirits to show the football fans that “Sea Kings don’t take no jive!” 4. Before returning to the football game as defensive back, Craig Nixon needs Dr. Pfaff, the team doctor, to bandage his wound. 5. After Club Corona Extra initiates the “we’ve got spirit” cheer, Kristin Parsons joins in to promote school spirit. 6. In the game against Woodbridge, Dan Stefano hikes the ball to Tod Bearbower.

Relationships in high school may last a lifetime. Sharing between friends, girlfriends and boyfriends, teachers and students, and even brothers and sisters is definitely worthy of celebration.

The most traditional friendships exist between two girls or two boys. These kind of friends share a great deal because they have had similar experiences; friends celebrate friends.

Sometimes the most valuable friendships are those between a girl and a boy. Couples share confidences and trust that are unique. Often these special friendships can blossom into romantic relations that can be so rewarding they are often celebrations of their own.

People at CdM are privileged to have the opportunity to be involved with people of different ages. We have teachers of such unique character that CdM almost seems like a second home.

Certainly the most spectacular relationships on campus are between family members. Older sisters and brothers often give their younger sisters and brothers a ride to school. Older family members can make younger ones more at home on their first day of school. Erin Turner, a sophomore has a brother Derek in her same grade, a junior sister Shannon, and senior brother Sean. "Having them here always helps because they know what I'm going through because they have either been there already or are going through it alongside me," she stated.

Many different relationships thrive at Corona del Mar, thus we should celebrate every day having such special friends to grow up with. ☺

1. Mimi Davidson and Michelle Goldstock share secrets. 2. Rich Robison gets help from Mr. John Weyhrauch during the A.S.B./faculty barbecue. 3. Scott Atkins sweeps Chickie Moiso off her feet. 4. Austyn Lortie and Matt Campagna have a love-hate relationship. 5. Shelly Zweber, Tim Zweber, Pat Sopkovich, Mike Story, Maureen Story, and Nick Sopkovich show their family ties. 6. Janice Foster shows her affection for Mike Briggs.

CdM celebrates the excellence of its faculty. The teaching staff puts in many extra hours of unrecognized work both before and after school and at lunch. The math and English skills labs are open at any time to tutor students. Many teachers, administrators, and coaches advise various clubs, for example, Mr. Bob Lyons-CSF, Miss Michele Cella-Latin Club and AFS, Mr. Ken Fish-Surf and Spanish Clubs, Mr. Dave Harvey-SADD, and Miss Kathy Sexton-Girls' League

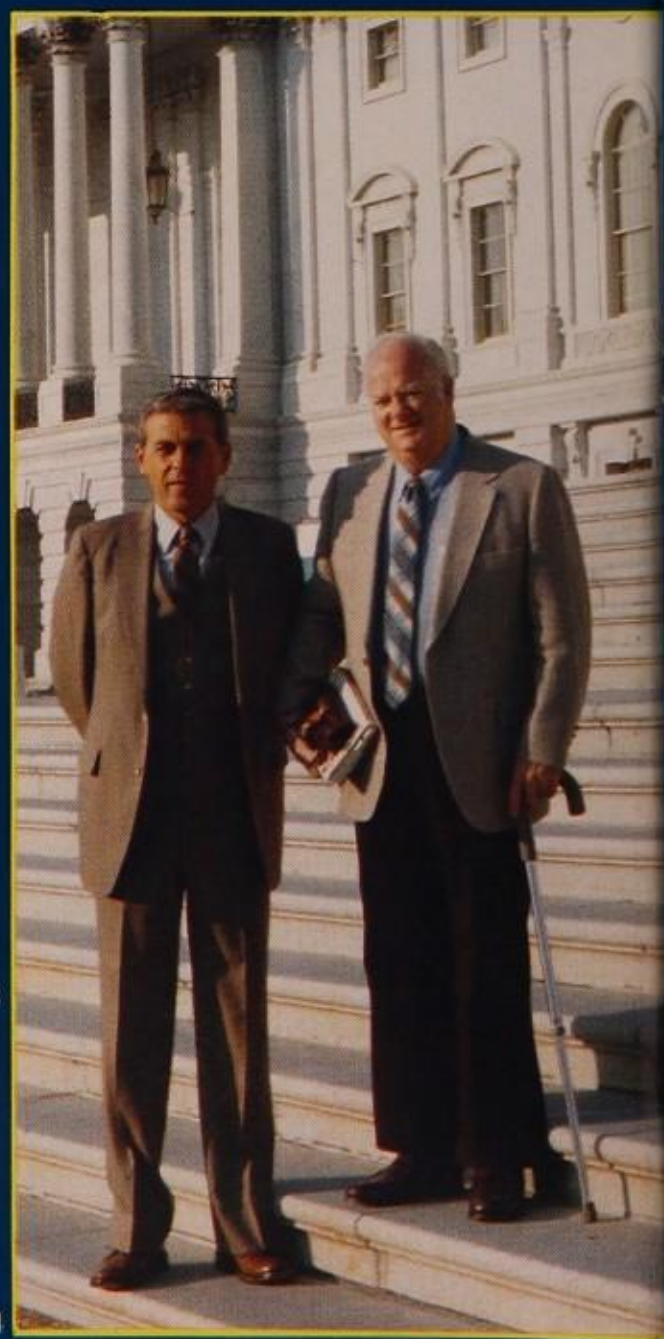

The faculty is made up of 77 teachers and 5 administrators. Most have been here for 15 years or more. Their dedication to teaching has resulted in students achieving high SAT scores, and recently the school was honored in the National Secondary School Recognition Program.

Along with this, several of the teachers have achieved recognition in different fields. Mr. Angelo Vassos was County Physics Teacher of the Year in 1984 and Mrs. Linda Mook is California representative to National Journalism Education Association in 1984-86.

Their hard work and dedication have resulted in many achievements and recognition for the school. This is what we celebrate.

1. Mr. John Weyrauch helps Tiffani Wilcox on a difficult geometry problem. 2. Mr. Chuck Johnston helps Jake Hoose discover future career opportunities. 3. Mrs. Linda Mook can't believe that Chris Iler doesn't have his story for Trident. 4. Allison Rillera stares in disbelief at an A on a recent Civics test.

CdM Hits The Top

Celebrate the Crown! - An expression coined to capture the essence of a wonderful experience. The years of high school are marked by challenges, opportunities, traumas, and triumphs. That such occurrences seem to happen constantly and concurrently is both the burden and the beauty of adolescence. CdMHS, the home of the crown, has achieved national recognition for excellence. We know, however, that a campus and its buildings achieve nothing; a school is only as good as its people. It is people who earn and deserve accolades and awards - people like the dedicated teachers and staff who serve CdM; people like the supportive parents who have given so much to make this a great school; and people like the talented students, past and present, who personify qualities such as pride, motivation, and character. Celebrate the crown and celebrate yourself, for you are the school! 🏆

Dennis J. Evans

1. Sherry Loofbourrow, school board representative, and Dr. Dennis Evans proudly display the flag awarded to CdM in Washington D.C. 2. English teacher Dan Gillis, Dr. Evans, CdM alumn Hillary Burton, and Congressman Badham. 3. Congressman Badham heartily congratulates Dr. Evans. 4. When a student steps on the gas pedal of a '57 red convertible Chevy, its engine roars like a lion. "Tap, tap" goes the faded blue typewriters as students type their assignments. In unison, the orchestra plays "Raindrops on Roses" on their instruments.

These activities are a part of the academic scene at Corona del Mar. As many as 7 hours a day may be devoted to academics. The academic subjects offered at CdM provide a variety of classes that students may enroll in. More than a hundred courses are offered at CdM, including 9 Advanced Placement classes ranging from AP French to AP Biology. To promote a more creative atmosphere, students have been given a choice of classes such as painting, foods, typing, and auto shop. CdM's curriculum offers varied courses that support students' interests. 🍌

Orchesis

"Bum ... Bum ... 3 ... 4 ... Turn ... Turn ... 7 ... 8 ..."

So it went as twenty-seven Orchesis dancers counted sets of eight to Madonna, Super Tramp, and Prince, trying to learn exotic combinations taught by instructor Michelle Caumiant.

"Move your body to the rhythm of the night, dancin' 'till the morning light ... " (Miami Sound Machine)

Never were more truthful words sung when related to the hard work dedicated to "Dancin' in the Streets," a two-hour production created, choreographed, and presented by the girls.

"You're doing great today! Keep it up! Get those knees a little higher!"

Aerobics. Led by Mrs. Sharon Trager, the girls groaned through sit-ups, leg lifts, and jumping jacks; their only consolation came in the thought, "Just think how skinny we'll be after this!"

Slumber parties, production meetings and luncheons, that first football game, fushia sweatshirts, Diet Coke, pie and pop-tart sales: all made for a fantastic semester of comradery, friendly competition, spirit, and fun. How often can one find dedication, talent, and good-looks all at once? Not often, but in the dance room, all of these qualities can be seen twenty-seven times in the Orchesis girls. ❖

Key Club opens door of opportunity

Bonded by friendship and the desire to aid others, Key Club had a productive year. Over 50 members participated in Key Club this year with many freshmen and sophomores. The cabinet included Tim Galusha, president; Darren Morris, vice-president; Ross Boon, secretary; Ben Bagheri, treasurer. Known for its support of the community and the school, this club gives its members the opportunity to apply themselves or just casually participate. When asked about his feelings of Key Club, Tim Galusha's response "It feels good to help others," exemplifies the generous attitude of club members.

This caring characteristic was displayed by the club's lengthy trip to Tijuana. At school, classmates were asked to donate anything from pots and pans to toothpaste which would be given to needy orphans in Tijuana. Furthermore, spirited members purchased other necessities at the Price Club. Upon arriving at the orphanage, the Key Club unfortunately learned that the children were attending Sunday mass. Other activities included a friendly inter-club softball game and weekly Kiwanis luncheons.

Fundraising this past year was one of the most profitable in the history of Key Club. The popular Key Club calendar produced a huge portion of the earnings. February's calendar girl was also the Key Club Sweetheart, Alice Broniewski. Other profits were the annual car wash and a popular Friday night dance. Through great leadership and enthusiastic participants, Key Club finished the year a grand success. ☺

"Key club is a tight-knit group working towards the common goal of spreading cheer and happiness throughout the community."
- Drew Krum

"It makes you feel good by helping the city and making the school look better." - Jason Bennett

The True Gift Of Giving

"Money for sweatshirts ... empty receipt books ... Christmas tree lights ..." the endless request for money followed the Keywanettes out the door after every monthly meeting. Led by president Tiffany Reynolds and vice-president Brooke Gurley, the Keywanettes, a service organization, dedicated many hours to raising money for charities. At school, the Keywanettes held many fundraisers — rose, watermelon, and bake sales — benefiting the American Cancer Society, the Red Cross, and the Diabetes Association. A special Tree of Life ceremony (Dec. 23) benefited United Cerebral Palsy. Many hours outside of school involved stuffing envelopes, passing out flyers, and working at a booth for the Special Olympics. 👑

It's A Wrap

"Quiet on the set! Stand by to edit . . . Evan, you look a bit glazed this morning. Anne, give us your level. Is Brian here yet? Ready on the VTR? Hairspray, how do you get your hair to stay like that? Are the three Daves ready at the control board? Craig, try to do this in one take. Dave, please get me the trivia box! Come on you guys, let's not editorial; we only have five minutes left! Will we ever finish in time? Yes, we did it! It's a wrap!"

This year's advanced production class produced a new show every morning during first period and broadcast it during second period. Students used a rotating schedule so that everyone took turns operating the different equipment. Advisor Fred Cutler gave students expert help and advice. The CdM news show, "Yesterday", reported on student activities, sports, and entertainment, ending each program with a trivia question for the day. 📺

The drama club put on two successful productions this year: Scenarios and You Can't Take it With You. The drama advisor was Mrs. Black for first semester and Joe Swift for second semester. This transition was made easy due to strong president Penny Buchanan. The drama club attended two festivals this year: the first at Fairfax High School, where one improvisation group received fourth place and three groups made it to semi-finals. The other festival was held at Occidental College. Five students were recognized with certificates for the performance in You Can't Take it With You. 🎭

Concert Choir gains unity

"Fun" and "friends" were the two most common words used to describe this year's Concert Choir. "This year, more than ever, there seems to be an atmosphere of great unity and support among the group," said senior Cheryl Ward. Early in the year, excitement was enhanced with new costumes and a combined concert with Irvine High School. The choir also sang in festivals and for over 600 people at an Ultrasystems Space and Defense Corporation's Christmas party. Later in the year, the choir hosted their own festival at Newport Harbor High School. ☺☺

"Choir has become a very special place thanks to the seventh and eighth graders. We share a unique closeness." - Christina Minna

"I don't have a most memorable moment in choir because every day is great!" - Janet Terry

"To me, choir means a big challenge, and fun." - Elisa Jackson

4 "I love choir, the leadership is excellent and the people are a lot of fun." - Carrie Conn

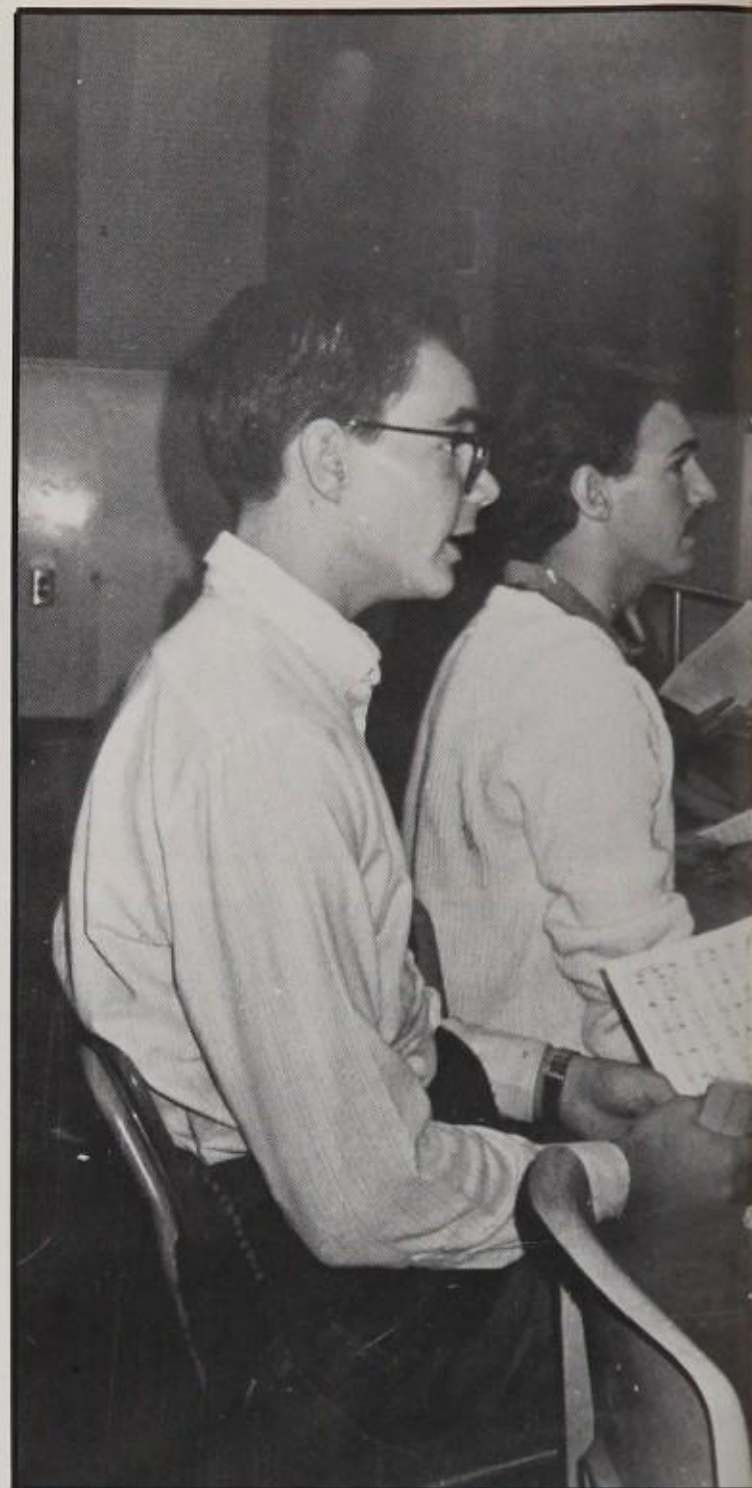

1. Stretching helps improve singing posture for Mary Jane Weeshoff, Kelli Harrington, and Jennifer Craft. 2. Rebecca Smith loves to sing. 3. Cheryl Ward helps Janet Terry with her makeup on a bus ride to a concert. 4. Elisa Jackson concentrates on learning her Christmas music. 5. Friends Todd Thompson, and Bryan Burns sing "We're the Choir" in preparation for the Fall Concert.

Singers enjoy a successful year.

The stage lights, holiday decorations, T.V. cameras, and cameramen were ready. Under the direction of Loretta Robinson, the CdM Madrigal Singers filmed a 60-second appearance to be shown on Channel 56 during the winter season. Said vice president Cheryl Ward, "It was a great experience for all involved." Throughout the year these select singers continued to provide entertainment for various parties, Philharmonic groups, and other special events. "It is a class I look forward to." stated soprano Penny Buchanan. 👑

"The madrigal retreat was my greatest experience. I learned a lot about myself and my voice." - Todd Thompson

"We have all become good friends." - Shannon Buzzard

"To me, madrigals is a challenge." - Geoff Lewis

"The madrigals are more like a family than a class. The hard work brings us closer together." - Cheryl Ward

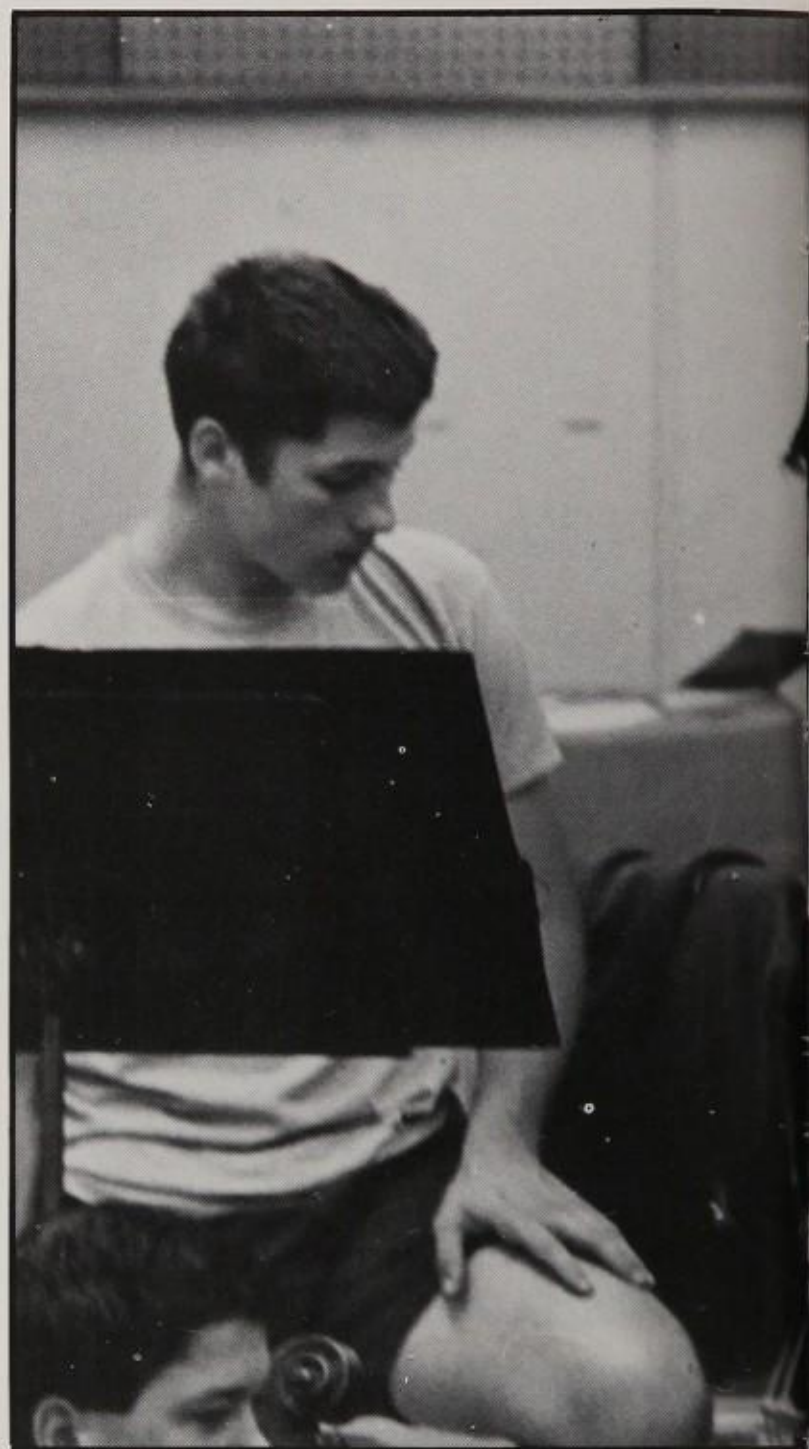

"Singing in a small close-knit group is really satisfying musically. We're a super team this year." - Briana Thomsen

Orchestra

Celebrate the fine arts!

The year opened with a bang for CdM's orchestra. After the last few years of decreased enrollment, a surprising number of underclassmen, mainly seventh and eighth graders, signed up for the class. This new addition provided new talent and a lot of enthusiastic orchestra participants. The group took part in several festivals in and around Orange County. They presented a fall concert, the annual Veterans' Hospital program, and the school's winter assembly. A special highlight this year was a superb holiday performance at Fashion Island, which was widely attended by members of the community. Several individuals were asked to play for private functions: Veronica and Gabriel Eckstein performed numerous times at homes and yacht clubs in the area. With its growth, enthusiasm, and excellent quality of musicianship, the orchestra proved to be a strong cultural influence on the Corona del Mar campus. 🎵

Dave Santoro reflects on his year in orchestra: "The funniest thing that happened was attempting to play a counter-melody in "Down a Country Lane" and squeaking on the high E." Veronica Eckstein adds, "It was hilarious trying to play while watching the seventh and eighth graders' faces." The most memorable moment in orchestra this year was: "Making a close friend when you didn't expect to." - Anne Viehe

Modern Music Masters

MMM Provides Beat Of The 80's.

Modern Music Masters celebrated this year by doubling its membership. All members presented two performances and learned Tri-M's song and constitution. President Geoff Lewis with advisers Harry Corea and Loretta Robinson worked to gain the club's recognition. Performances including an upbeat eight piece jazz ensemble, Historian Briana Thomsen singing a duet with Penny Buchanan, and Mr. Dave Harvey (English teacher) playing several clarinet selections, were held Wednesdays at lunch for all CdM students and faculty. These noontime meetings drew large audiences. Geoff Lewis added, "This year has been very successful for Tri-M. We hope to perform more next year." 🎵

Jazz Band

Jazz band starts a new beat

Jazz band was much more recognized this year due to its extra support at both the home basketball and football games. Senior David Santoro was the leader of the newly-formed Basketball Jazz Band under the supervision of Harry Corea. The jazz band played at many festivals including the San Dimas and Mount San Antonio jazz festivals. Neither of these were competitive. In March the band attended the Orange Coast College Jazz Festival. The next month they went to jazz festivals in Fullerton and San Diego City. Harry Corea stated, "I have eight eighth graders and only three seniors, so as you can see we will be getting stronger and stronger every year." 🏆

Sea Kings catch waves of success

Meeting in front of the school at 3:15 a.m., the Corona del Mar surf team prepared to caravan to a long-awaited surf contest. Upholding their reputation as one of the best teams in the state, the team finished third after three NSSA competitions. When asked about the judging, John Cecil replied, "The NSSA judges are excellent and always fair." The contests were held at Huntington Beach and Salt Creek where the team competed with some of the finest schools in the state. These included Edison, Ocean View, Dana Hills, and rival Huntington High School. David Giddings and Kelly Becker were outstanding competitors who always exhibited a fine performance. Bonded by friendship and unparalleled talent, the surf team had the spirit and ability to challenge in any competition. 🏆

Sailing Team

The CdM Sailing Team Breezes Through The Year

The Corona del Mar sailing team, for the second year in a row, qualified to compete in the National High School Championships. A five-man team with coach Bill Wakeman went to Annapolis, Maryland from May 1-6. The team prepared for the event by practicing every Monday and Wednesday at the turning basin near the Balboa Yacht Club. The CdM sailors used such boats as Sabots, Lasers, Lido 14's, and Santana 20's. The team was led by the excellent sailing of Keith Duarte and Dave Wood. 🏆

A New Club Forms

"We formed the club for the purpose of social interaction. We wanted to get to know the others around us," stated Julius Kim, founder of the new club Asian Awareness. With advisor Mike Marino and committee members Julius Kim, Renato Lam, Annette Kim, Vanessa Chong, and Lin Hsu, the new club set out to plan various activities. It took awhile for the group to start, but soon plans to have a Chinese food sale at lunch, a field trip to Chinatown, and guest speakers at club meetings were soon put into action. "Who knows, we may even have Trisha Toyota come speak to the club," joked Mr. Marino. Asian Awareness club members have a lot of spunk, and one member stated, "We may be a minority, but soon we will become the majority." ♀

What should students do when they don't want to eat lunch on the Quad steps, but still want to challenge themselves mentally without going to the damp library? Go play chess in Mr. Gordon Becktold's room.

"We don't sit here at lunch and gossip; we sit here and play chess," stated Mr. Becktold, club advisor. A majority of the chess club members said that chess was their time for relaxing, while also stimulating their intelligence. "Chess takes a lot of persistence and patience," says club member Mike McGowan. "I enjoy playing chess." The club members spend much if not all of their lunchtime challenging each other to matches. Their biggest challenge, of course, is to beat advisor and awesome chess player Mr. Becktold. ♔

Equestrian club jumps to new heights

The equestrian club is in its second year under the presidency of Shannon Rhodes and advisor Anita Painter. The goal of this year was not to exclude inexperienced equestrians but rather to include as many people as possible regardless of experience. This club held their meetings twice a month in which they had speakers come in and talk about breeding and three-day eventing. They also rented the video on the Olympic equestrian events. The equestrian club went to Griffith Park to watch a show in January. 🏆

Ski club provides ticket for excitement

Tired of staying home on the holidays? Have parents who don't ski? The Corona del Mar ski club is an excellent opportunity to ski at world-famous resorts. Aided by the Boy Scouts of America, Don Lowry, advisor, and Richard Herrera, president, organized many spectacular trips. Over Christmas vacation, the club visited resorts in Utah: Alta and Park City. Besides skiing, the members enjoyed ski demonstrations and dancing. Brianhead, Utah, was the destination of the second trip held over Washington's birthday. For spring skiing, the club spent the Easter holiday at the slopes of Purgatory, Colorado. Weekend ski trips to some of Southern California's local resorts also were offered. In its second year, the ski club was a great success because of carefully organized trips and student participation. ❄️

Pep Squad Promotes School Spirit

The crowd anxiously awaits their surprise of the evening. The lights dim in the enormous ballroom. The disc jockey gives the go ahead as the strobe light starts to turn. Five members of varsity song and eight members of the junior varsity squads come from the back, pushing through the crowds to the front of the stage. The music begins and the audience is thrilled. This was at the Nike benefit at the Ritz Carlton. This was one of the fundraisers put on by the 1985-86 Pep Squad.

This year's cheerleaders worked hard under the new advisor Carolyn Stephenson. President Brynn Rauth said, "The main goal for cheerleading this year was to raise money as well as promote school spirit." Fundraisers included the kids camp during summer and a candy cane sale. The pep squad spent their summer preparing cheers for fall sports and attending a cheerleading camp. 🏆

AFS Brings People Closer

"Four local interviews, two regional interviews, and then a mass of papers filled out in quadruplet, copied, and mailed to New York ... all in the first two months of school?" Yes, that is what the 20 Americans Abroad had to endure. CdM's four foreign students- Judith Alder, Switzerland; Sherif Attia, Egypt; Melissa Najera, Panama; and Ingunde Ritz, Brazil — added much to the club's activities. These activities included a sandcastle contest at CdM beach, a Halloween party, caroling with Newport Harbor's AFS club, and a Christmas party. The club joined forces with the Latin Club to collect canned goods for the Santa Ana Soup Kitchen's special Christmas meal. Officers this year were president Melanie McGiffin, vice president Mathias Schar, and secretary/treasurer Lori Silver. 🏠

Take A Stand-Say No!

"If you have trouble not drinking for a month, you are an alcoholic or on your way to becoming one." These words, said by the main speaker in the 20-minute film Kevin's Story, made many of CdM's student body ponder that thought. A few days before Winter Formal, Students Against Drunk Driving (S.A.D.D.) sponsored this movie whose purpose was to inform students of the dangers of mixing drinking with driving.

Led by co-presidents Scott McManigal and Jill Tyler, S.A.D.D. promoted the slogan "Friends Don't Let Friends Drive Drunk" throughout the year, especially preceding big dances such as Homecoming and Prom. The club held activities such as a pizza party in the fall to promote positive peer pressure. S.A.D.D. made a permanent sign for the school to read when they participated in the trash can painting contest in October. 🍷

T.I.E. Tunes In To Information

Led by president Ryan Klein and public relations director Christine Mirzayan, The Teenage Information Exchange Club (T.I.E.) kept busy throughout the year with activities and speakers involving its 25 members. The club provides information and awareness of selected topics to CdM's student body. Maryann O'Sullivan, from the American Lung Association, spoke to several students about smoking and the deadly consequences associated with it. T.I.E. also hosted the well-known radical Republican orator Wally George in the spring. T.I.E. succeeded in provoking many new thoughts in numerous CdM students. ☺☺

"Being a member of this club has expanded my horizons." -Chris Hochschild

"European Enlightenment experiences culture"

Led by president Bryce Johnson, vice president Analisa La Bianco, and secretary-treasurer Lisa Horowitz, the European Enlightenment Club participated in many events throughout the year. In October, the club members, mostly from advanced placement European history and humanities classes, competed in the trash can painting contest to beautify the campus. In November, 15 members went to the Octoberfest in Huntington Beach. They also visited various ballets, museums, and concerts during the spring months. With the help of advisor Anita Painter, the club was able to experience foreign culture. 🍷

“Pal is confidentiality”

“The number one priority of PAL is confidentiality,” says Bill Pascual to the Peer Assistance League members. Counselors Doug Volding and Pascual began PAL in the '84-'85 school year to respond to the needs of students seeking help for their problems. After several weeks of training in the beginning of the year, almost 100 students from different groups within the 9-12 grades became a part of PAL. During the second semester, PAL counselors were able to enroll in a class to further their training. Passing out flyers and wearing T-shirts helped PAL create an awareness among the student body about the opportunities it provides. If a student wants to talk to a peer counselor, he can contact a counselor directly or ask Mr. Pascual or Mr. Volding to make that contact. Mr. Volding summed up PAL's year by commenting, “This group has proved extremely effective and successful.” 🏆

Latin Club

Latin club leads the way in growth.

The Latin Club continued to grow rapidly this year. Through the excellent leadership of Consuls Briana Thomsen and Greg Lambrecht, Secretary Katie Strote, and Adviser Miss Michele Cella, the amount of both fun and worthwhile activities increased. Many funds were raised through the club's car wash held in September. Other fundraisers included a winter See's sucker sale and the selling of club t-shirts, designed by Latin students. "I believe that the shirts, featuring both the CdM Seaking and the Parthenon, will provide club unity and school spirit," asserted Briana Thomsen. The club heightened the student body's awareness of local hunger by sponsoring a school-wide food drive. Both the collected food and funds earned provided holiday meals for the hungry. Other funds were used for fun activities; two parties were held which were widely attended. This spring, students traveled to the national Latin Convention, held in Palo Alto. ☺

Viva el club de Espanol!

The Spanish Club kicked off the year with a fundraiser for the Mexican earthquake victims, raising over $200 in decorated cans put in rooms throughout the school. In November, they hosted a progressive dinner, attended by Spanish Club members and the whole advanced placement Spanish class. They celebrated the start of the Christmas season with a spirited Christmas party. In January they took their annual trip to Tijuana, Mexico for the day to practice their conversational Spanish and sample real Mexican cuisine. The 1985-86 elected board included: president Jeff Fenley, vice-president Michele Ingold, publicity chairmen Susana Torres, Michelle Roshan, and Molly Tucker. ## Floats, Bar-B-Q Promotes Spirit

As one scans the Quad, it is not unusual to see Mr. John Weyhrauch, Mr. Jim Rogers, and Mr. Starkweather grilling hamburgers. These three faculty members and many others participated in the first ASB/staff Bar-B-Q. The Bar-B-Q was planned by ASB to promote unity between students and faculty.

New activities advisor Al Waterman felt that the "enthusiasm of the ASB officers . . ." and their "striving for school unity . . ." played a large role in the success of the 1985-86 school year. Many events kept students entertained at lunch, including Twister, musical chairs, and ping-pong tournaments.

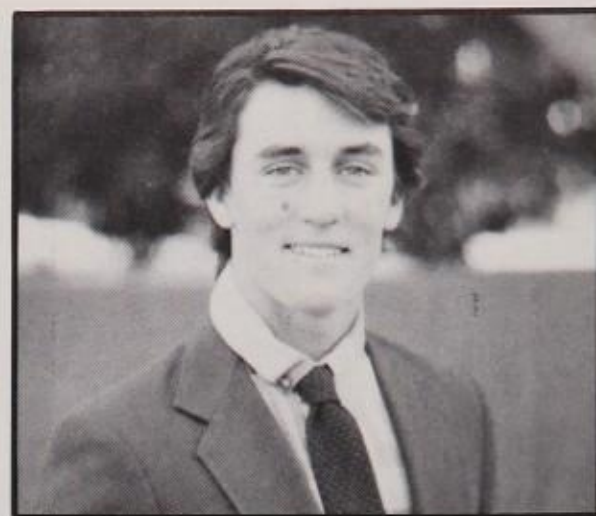

School spirit was especially evident during Homecoming festivities. Class floats returned, expressing the theme "It's a small world". Spirit Week and Olympic Week were other indications of enthusiasm. A new addition to CdM this year was the campus beautification organization, improving the campus by sponsoring contests such as the trash can painting contest. As observed by Jim Donahue, "The creative ideas stimulated by the ASB have positively affected the whole school." ☺

Class Councils Work To Raise School Spirit

CdM's class officers and council members worked hard to make this year the best ever. By creating student spirit, supporting fundraisers, and promoting school activities, the class councils were among the most active student groups. Under their leadership, students enjoyed class shirt sales, the Jr./Sr. Prom, Homecoming, class parties, and fundraisers. "Our main goal was to unify all classes in our activities and fundraisers," stated Erin Turner.

Class council members were chosen by class officers to represent their peers, serving as a link between officers and students and providing a voice for the entire student body. 🏆

"Working on the sophomore float for the Homecoming game really unified the sophomore class."-Angie McGiffin

"The Homecoming game with the senior float was a great way to start off our senior year."-Michelle Abajian

Speech/Debate club excels in competition

Since last year, the Speech/Debate club membership almost doubled, and Suzanne Sutherland returned as faculty advisor for the club after a one-year absence. The club participated in nine speech tournaments and debates. The most successful was the Cypress tournament held at Cypress Junior College.

The selling of Boone boards earned the club over $350. Another fundraiser was a computer matching service that took place in early February. For $1 any student could fill out a special form and have it imputed into a computer. From that, the computer would make a list of people with ideas, feelings, and hobbies comparable to those of the person applying. The club officers this year were Ryan Klein, president; Peter Aengst, secretary; Chris Hochschild, treasurer; and Keith Klein, ASB representative.

It was nearing the end of the second period. Tracy Paquette had won the first period of the match 13-0, against a rival Newport Harbor wrestler. However the second period seemed endless. Tracy knew he only needed two more points to win the match, but he was becoming exhausted. When he thought he would almost become pinned, he reversed his position and won another match.

What team members lacked in numbers, they showed in will to succeed. They felt they had a very rewarding season, winning their first meet against Costa Mesa, something they hadn't done in two years. Team members: Mark Prevot, Bruce Broadus, and Jeff Chow were led by Tracy Paquette who finished third in league and qualified for C.I.F. 🏆

CSF achieves greater unification through new leadership.

CSF (California Scholarship Federation) is a club organized to recognize students' academic achievements. Previously this club was considered purely academic, but, under the leadership of president Tori Harvey, the club attained a more social aspect. Adviser Robert Lyons pushed for a larger membership this year, and, through lots of publicity through the morning news and Trident, raised the club's membership to 100 members, a third more than last year. "More people definitely make the club more fun and unified," asserted club member Carrie Conn. President Tori Harvey added, "The increase in membership accounted for the club's success in organizing parties." A Christmas party as well as a pizza party in March were widely attended and enjoyed. 🍕

Model UN is now a stronger group.

Model UN is a club for students interested in expanding their knowledge of foreign and national politics. This year's group, headed by delegates Chrissy D'Angelo and Tim Galusha, overcame major setbacks to form a strong, cohesive group. Many hours of research were needed to prepare the students for the convention in Fresno, California held in early May. At this convention, each club represented a pre-assigned country. Committees were set up to discuss world problems and to form resolutions. As in the real United Nations, a General Assembly and Security Council were appointed. Awards were given for the most prepared and knowledgeable presentations. Despite all the hard work involved at the convention, Model UN members enjoyed such social activities as dances and parties. 🍕

Field Ecology Combines Fun And Learning

"Are we going? Where are we going? Teneja? What? The trip has been canceled?"

These questions went through most field ecology students' minds before the first trip was canceled due to rain; the trip was rescheduled later as a day trip. Students did make one overnight trip to the Anza Borrego Desert to observe Halley's comet, and a four-day trip to the Kern River in the Sierras. On these trips, students learned about their environment, studying geology, meteorology, chemistry, mapping skills, vertebrates, invertebrates, and botany. Every Monday night students attended a two-hour class featuring lectures given by instructors Jim Canary, Dale Ghere, Ron Schnitger, and Gale Slagle. Said Lin Hsu, "After taking field ecology, students look at plants and animals with different eyes." Said Ingunde Ritz, "I learned that every little thing is important: feathers, leaves, bones, and even scats!" Field ecology students learn to understand the importance of their surroundings, and learn to appreciate rather than destroy. 🐾

New Adviser Helps Establish New Goals

"Girls' League's goal has been to include all girls in everything," said Susie Paulsen, president. "Our fundraisers have been designed to evoke equal participation from both the cabinet members and interested girls on the student body." During the summer, activities included miniature golfing at night, a beach party, a progressive dinner, and a night at Knotts Berry Farm. During the year Girls' League hosted bake, sucker, a sandwich sales, and of course, Winter Formal. "Organizing Winter Formal was stressful, but I think the event came off successfully," stated Kira Loofbourrow, secretary. The profits made on this year's Winter Formal enabled Girls' League to present five senior girls with scholarships. Jim Onstott was crowned Snow King and sweetheart at Winter Formal. Kathy Sexton, Girls' League advisor, was also a new addition. 🍷

Senior Edition is created

This year the senior quotes club and the Senior Edition staff worked together to produce the much anticipated Senior Edition. The senior quotes club was organized by Susan Tompkins, who was one of the six senior editors of the club. Other senior editors included Susana Torres, Tim Galusha, Cheryl Ward, Scott McManigal, and Melanie McGiffin. Seniors were given strict directions for the completion of their quotes at a senior class meeting. Quotes are important to the seniors because they give students the opportunity to express opinions, memories, and friendships. The quotes were checked for slander and libel by 15 quotes club members, then by the six senior editors, then by club advisor Mrs. Suzanne Johnston. Some senior quotes staff members went on to work on and compile the Senior Edition. ❦

Trident gets the scoop

The newspaper staff, led by Editor-in-Chief Lori Silver, dedicated long and strenuous hours to producing 15 quality issues of the Trident. The staff covered many indepth stories such as "Special ties bind kids of big families" and "The CdM Report Card" in the Dec. 18 issue and the Drug Bust dilemma in the Jan. 24 issue.

A new Macintosh computer enabled the 34 members of the staff to do their own typesetting which, in turn, saved the newspaper budget thousands of dollars. By switching to a new printing company, the staff was able to add occasional color to the paper.

The Trident staff sponsored the annual Sadie Hawkins dance in April which was attended by 500 people. 🍷

Yearbook captures memories

What do you mean the deadline was yesterday! Susan, how do I crop these pictures. Let's order some pizza. Jeff, where are my candid? Mrs. Mook, phone for you. Turn down the radio, I'm getting a headache. Susie, what are the specs for sports? Mrs. Mook, we don't have enough money. Susan Bond, why did we have to sell $180 worth of magazines? Colleen, I need these pictures reprinted by tonight. Portrait Gallery is late with our pictures again! Where's Roya? At Carl's Jr., of course. Kira, what size are the copy blocks for clubs. Susana, where are my faculty mug shots. Susan, can I have some help. No, the other Susan. I hate croppers! Where's my grease pencil! Greg, how do I work this computer. Will we ever get all of this done? ☹

Senior club starts school spirit

Bleachers of spirited seniors in white Club Corona Extra t-shirts abounded at every football game this year. The class of 1986 received a taste of Corona Extra when Roy Hobbs and Steve Muzzy started a new spirit club by the same name. The two co-presidents and their board of twelve people — Marc McGrath, McG Nichol, Dave Shackleton, John Mead, Sean Fawcett, Steve Chabre, Tim Galusha, Bonzo Painter, Kelly Toon, Scott McManigal, Chris Samuelian, and Jim Donahue — joined forces to create school spirit by first uniting the seniors and then passing their spirit to the whole school. By the middle of October, "Club Corona Extra", headlined in Trident, filled students' minds and was the talk of the school. "I think it's a great idea. It brings all seniors together," commented Kevin McLaughlin. Over 75 seniors expressed their enthusiasm at sports events. Jeff Houston said, "The Homecoming game was the best game because it had the biggest turn out of Club Corona. About 150 people came." This new club proved to be the extra push CdM students needed to unite their spirit. ☺

"It was like The Blob; it just kept growing." - Roy Hobbs

"Club Corona Extra is awesome because everyone gets involved with the spirit of 86." - Susan Bond

"The club is the unity of our class and unity is strength. The pyramid at the Harbor game was the best." - Sean Fawcett

"We put the spirit back into the student body!" - Chris Samuelian

Artists Display Their Talent

If asked to name the most talented, unique artists of the senior class, most would say Michelle Herrera and Kelly Toon.

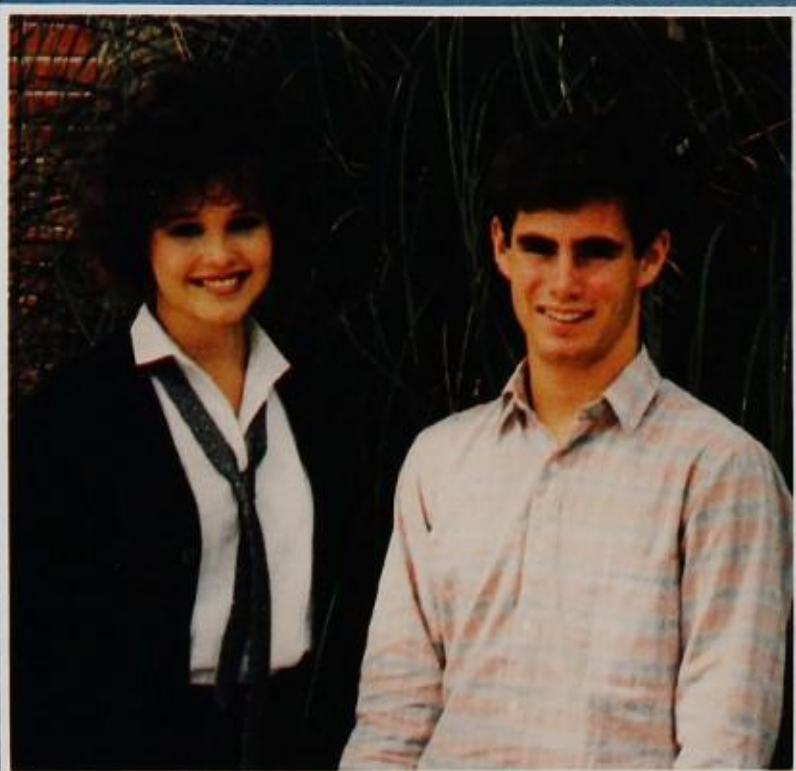

Michelle became interested in art at age thirteen, when she drew a portrait of the drummer of the rock group Madness. Since then, all of her artwork has focused on rock stars. Giving Michelle recognition in the music industry, she has drawn portraits of many musicians, such as the members of Spandau Ballet and Duran Duran, Adam Ant, and Madonna.

When asked about the future, Michelle stated, "I would like to have a job in the music industry as an artist, perhaps designing record album covers and continue with my rock star portraits."

Kelly Toon was inspired to be an artist by classes through Newport Harbor Art Museum. Kelly's graphic designs have dealt with shape and color. Kelly also enjoys producing ink drawings such as the 1985 Homecoming ticket.

Kelly plans to attend Cal Poly San Luis Obispo to be an architect or building contractor. "Working in an architect's office gave me much experience and insight. I also know how much work is involved," states Kelly with a smile.

During the first few weeks of school, the Campus Beautification Committee noticed the lack of color around the school and decided to sponsor a trash can beautification contest. ## AFS changes the shape of our world

A foreign country, a strange school, and another family: these situations have become real for CdM's four AFS students.

When Judith Alder heard about AFS in Switzerland, she said, "Sure, why not?" Did she ever think she would come to California? "I never thought I'd be so lucky!" Living in Newport Beach, she has continued her swimming, badminton, and windsurfing.

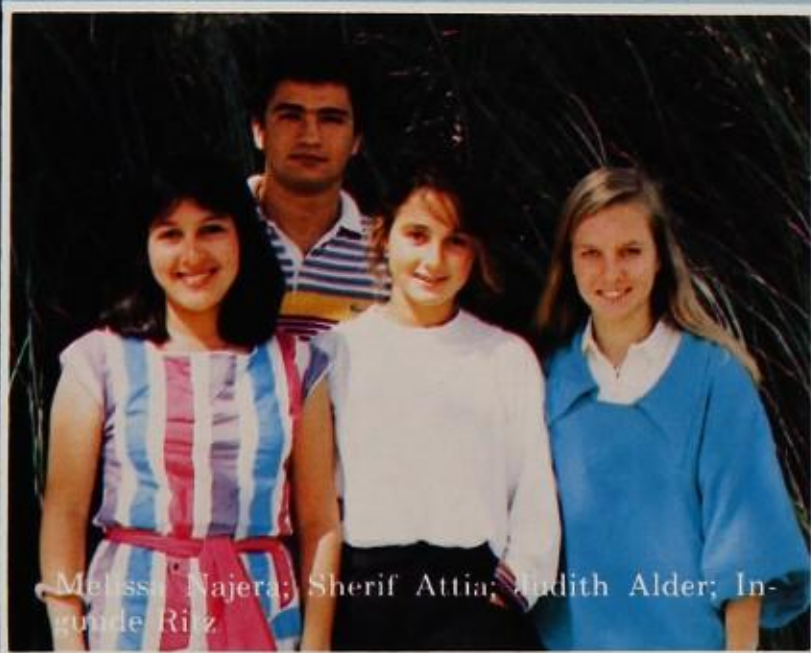

From Panama, Melissa Najera found English difficult, but soon the Spanish disappeared. Melissa desired to come to either California or New York. In Newport she has found a family with whom she feels most comfortable. Two of Melissa's favorite hobbies: volleyball and dancing.

Ingunde Ritz, from Brazil, also enjoys dancing classical ballet. For her, AFS was a way to experience life in the U.S. What is most different? "School, and the Friday night football games."

Sherif Attia from Cairo, Egypt became an instant success with his smile and his sense of humor. He quickly became a part of CdM life, getting a job at Gina's Pizza and joining the soccer team. Says Sherif, "Americans are very different from Egyptians!" 🍕

Stanford, SDSU, UCLA, UCSB, and Yale: where should we apply? This question and many more perplexed the Senior class. Many people looked to college night at Newport Harbor High School for the answers. 113 colleges in California and out of state were available. After college night SAT scores were back and many students chose to improve them with workshops. Once prepared, they were ready to take the test again. The decision of where to apply became inevitable after seniors visited various campuses. Then, all scrambled to finish the essays, completing their applications. When finally the applications were mailed, the class of '86 breathed a sigh of relief. ☺

Piano helps Annette express herself

The final chord trembles, and stillness fills the room. Three minutes of silence, and the judges stand with the results. Annette Kim, a talented pianist, is all smiles when the judges announce her the winner. Winning the concerto contest enabled Annette to perform with the Saddleback College Orchestra.

Annette Kim started playing the piano at age six and has continued to play for eleven years. She has been competing for the last five years, and every year earns at least one award. During spring, the heavy competition season, she practices at least four hours a day.

"Piano helps me express myself," says Annette, and it is from piano that she gained interest in art: drawing, sculpting, and graphic art. She is also very interested in fashion design.

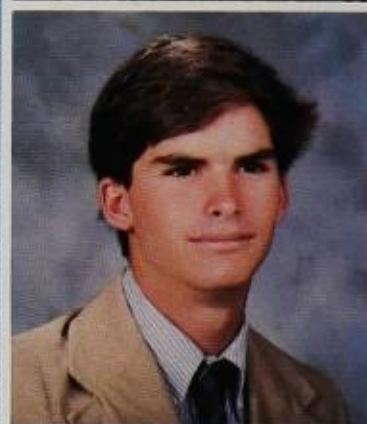

In the future Annette doesn't see herself going into music professionally, but she does see herself using it as a creative outlet and does plan to keep on playing. "I'm really interested in fine arts and studio arts. I feel that piano will help me in art." Finally, Annette plans to attend a four-year university and a school of the arts. 🎹

President Strives For Spirit

Steve Chabre's contributions to Corona del Mar only start with his responsibilities as Senior Class President. Through his active participation in PAL, his support of Club Corona Extra, his starting role on the CdM football team, and his many extracurricular activities, Steve seemingly comes in contact with most everyone in CdM. "The best part of being Senior President is meeting all of my fellow classmates and getting to know and understand such a wide variety of people," said Steve.

In his relatively little free time, Steve enjoys playing volleyball and going to the beach. But most of all, he likes to hang out with his friends and to try to understand the world.

His plans for the future include college, possibly one of the Ivy League schools or U.C. Berkeley. "I'm very undecided on my major; Government, International Relations, Business ... who knows?" Steve said.

Steve summed up his feelings on the Senior Class by saying, "The class of 1986 is very diverse. Although there is such a wide variety of people, one thing they all have in common is that they like to have fun together." Steve added, "CdM has been a special place for me to enjoy athletics, academics, and leadership, but the friends I have made over the years are what I will most remember about CdM." 🏆

Remember When . . .

Friday nights were spent at home in front of the T.V.

Being a member of the "Bush Buddies" was the "in thing" at Harbor Day.

Recesses at Andersen Elementary were spent playing Chinese Jacks and hopscotch.

Lunch times were spent playing cooties.

Girls could outrun the boys in relays.

There was no homework and a lot of time for play.

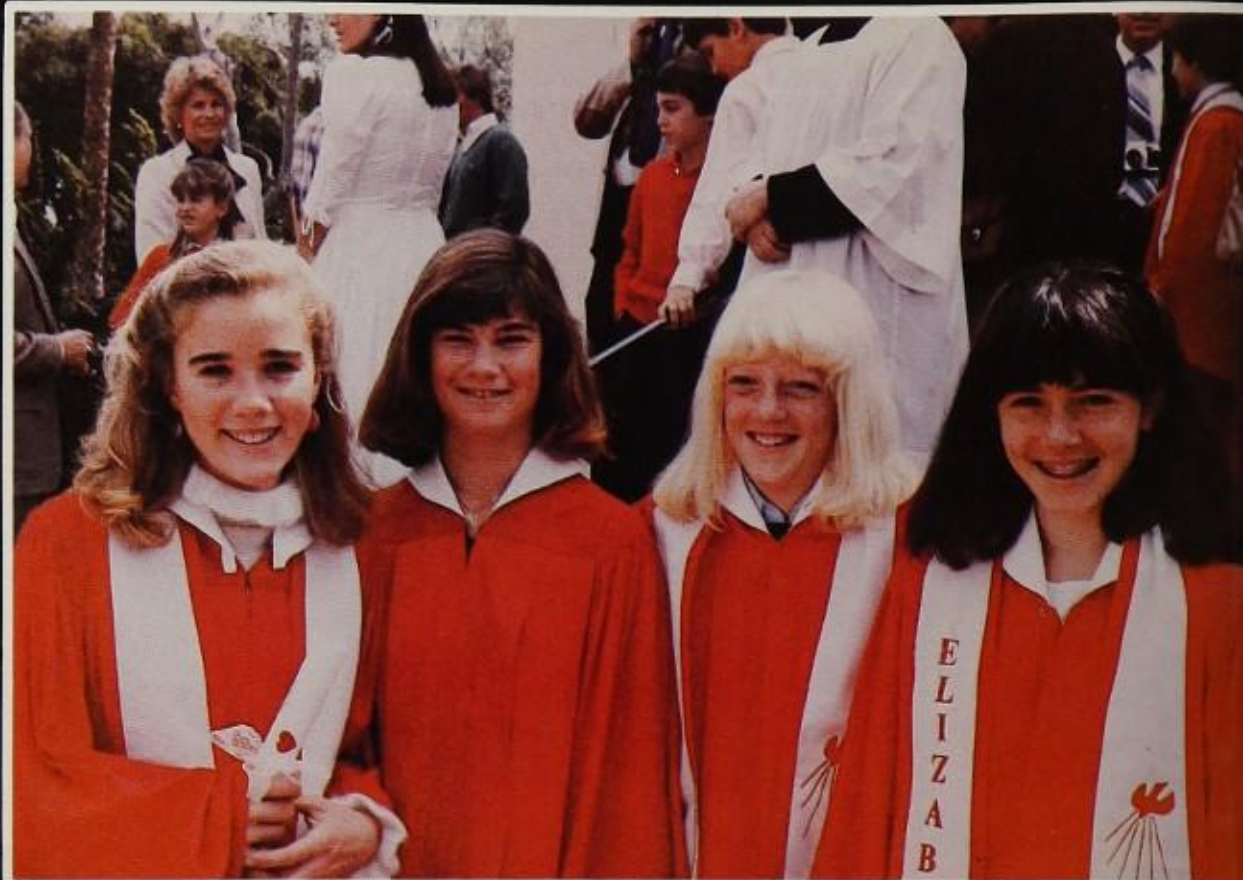

Our biggest worry was who could get to the handball courts first to make the rules.

We had to drink all of our milk before leaving the lunch table.

We loved to play four square.

We were graded with O's instead of A's.

It was a special privilege to stay up past 8 p.m.

On The Way To Broadway

When most people go to see a Broadway play, they wish that one day they could be up on the stage performing. This dream could and most likely will come true for Leslie Barlow. Leslie began dancing at the age of thirteen. At first, it was just for fun, but later, Leslie began to really enjoy it and took it more seriously. Leslie practices anywhere from 12-15 hours a week and dances at many different places ranging from Los Angeles to Orange to Long Beach. Leslie claims, "Jazz, Ballet, and Tap are the funnest types of dance; however, out of those three, I would have to pick jazz as my favorite."

Leslie has actively participated in Orchesis, a school dance group, during both her sophomore and senior year. She was too busy dancing on her own during her freshman and junior year to contribute to Orchesis.

Leslie is planning to go to New York next year to practice dance and go to school. She is very excited and enthusiastic about this. She hopes to dance professionally and perform in Broadway shows.

Bill Hastings, Leslie's dance instructor, claims, "Leslie has a great deal of potential, and I am sure that she will accomplish any goals that she may set for herself." Hopefully, all her dedication and hard work will reward her with success on Broadway.

CLASSES

The Class of '87, led by president Darren Morris and secretary/treasurer Wendy Miller, kicked off the year with the decoration of the Junior Homecoming float.

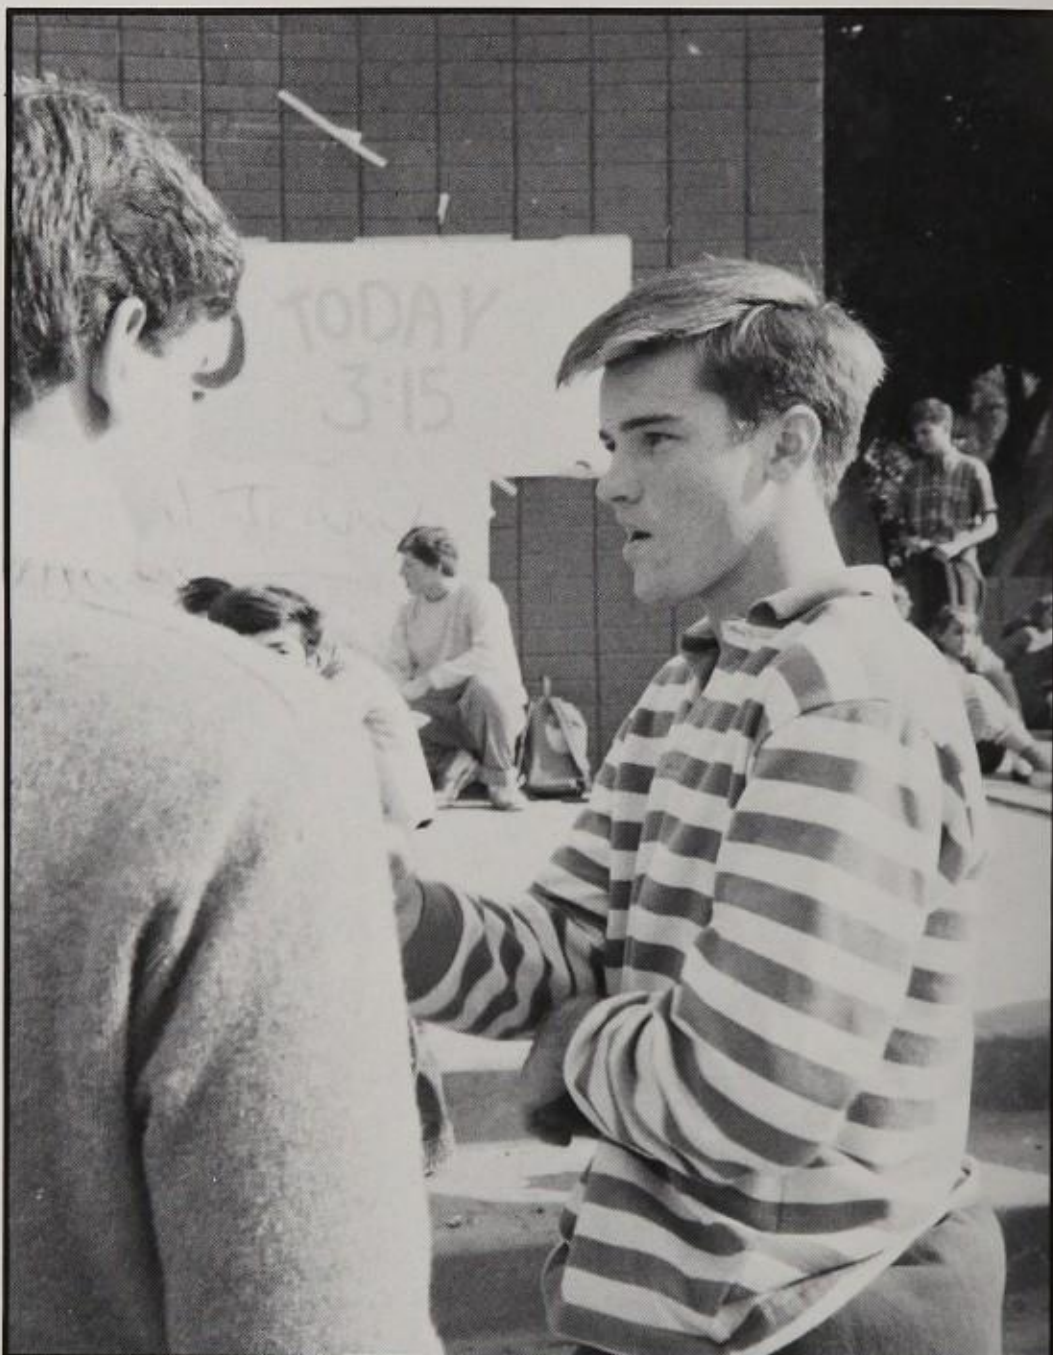

Diligently working together as a class, the Juniors contributed a float containing a blue and white wave with Junior princess Mary Johnston and prince Bill Harmon riding beneath it.

The responsibility of organizing the Junior/Senior Prom also fell upon the Junior Class. The dance was held at the Anaheim Convention Center and was enjoyed by all who attended.

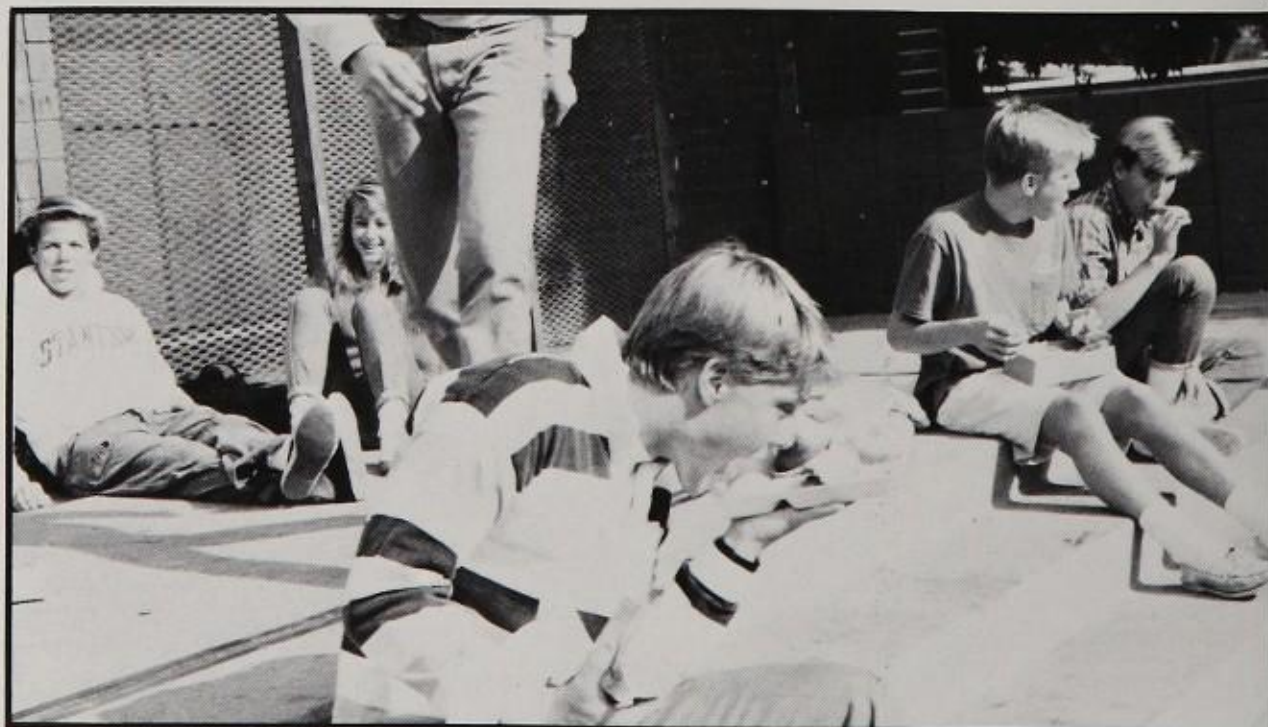

Finally, many Juniors participated in such activities as class parties, shirt sales, and an Almond Roca sale.

Overall, the class of '87 had an exceptional year and is looking forward to its senior year in the fall. ☺☺

'88 Still Better Than Great

The Sophomore Class of '88 was led by President Heidi Hoelscher and Sec./Treas. Laurie Wooten.

Many fundraisers and social activities were held to boost class spirit and unity. Class T-shirts were sold, and a dance was sponsored after the Harbor football game. A special float, designed like Noah's Ark, was also made for Homecoming to represent this year's theme "It's A Small World." The float carried the Sophomore Princess Leslie Cashion and Prince Jim Robbins. The Sophomore Class also proved its superiority by taking first place in many lunch time activities, such as the whipped cream eating contest in which Laurie Wooten was the first person to put her face in a gushy bowl of whipped cream and to find a hidden piece of bubble gum. She then had to blow a bubble. Laurie later got whipped cream thrown all over her for defeating senior John Cecil. 🍌

Freshmen graduate to Sea Kings

Led by president Jeff Taylor and secretary/treasurer Julie Smith, the Freshman Class celebrated many new opportunities in high school. Mainly, the class of 1989 enjoyed graduating from Sea Weeds to Sea Kings. "Being part of the school was my favorite thing about being a freshman," commented Shelly Parsons. The freshmen participated in school dances, the magazine sale, and the Homecoming float competition. When asked what his favorite part of being a freshman was, Jeff Taylor replied, "There are so many things about being a freshman that are better than being in eighth grade. I can't think of just one." With this enthusiasm, the freshmen believe that it was an easy transition from eighth grade to ninth grade. ☺

1. Cherie Curtis, Gretchen Fyke, and Meredith Mendelsohn debate about who they should invite to Winter Formal. 2. Matt Cwiernia thinks about his bad grade. 3. Typical freshman, Matt Madzoeff, attempts to whistle at a senior girl. 4. After being asked to Winter Formal, Bill Rauth grins slightly.

Sea Weeds Celebrate Involvement

CdM's eighth graders, leaders of the Sea Weeds, had a terrific year filled with various activities. The 1985-1986 officers were Fiona Locke, president, and Tarah Wakeling, secretary-treasurer.

Some activities of the year included a seventh-eighth grade dance and their own Winter Formal. They took part in the first seventh-eighth grade Twister game, as well as their own Halloween contest. To promote school spirit, the eighth grade student council sold Sea Weed t-shirts. Ending the year on a positive note, the students went to Knott's Berry Farm to celebrate their last year as Sea Weeds. Next year they'll be Sea Kings. ♀

Seventh Grade Broadens Its Horizons.

The seventh grade class began the '85-'86 school year on the right foot at their first dance Sept. 20, behind the leadership of president Pat Giblin and secretary/treasurer Amy Roberts. In the months following, the seventh grade class continued to participate in a variety of activities. Nov. 1 they danced to the tunes of the Tailspinners at their own Homecoming celebration. During the holiday season, the two underclasses visited the Long Beach Veterans Hospital. In the spring the seventh graders sponsored a father/son dinner and a mother/daughter tea. They also added more lunchtime activities and rallies to their agenda. 🍷

Homecoming '85

Sea King spirit, emphasized by Club Corona Extra and the newly formed pep band, peaked at the Corona del Mar homecoming game. The 1985 pep squad was joined by many alumni from schools as far away as Utah, Arizona, Berkeley, and Pennsylvania. Class spirit soared higher with the renewed idea of floats carrying the class princes and princesses. Although all the floats displayed hard work and illustrated the theme "It's a Small World," the junior class float was exceptional and captured first place. Following the floats came the senior court. For the first time, proud fathers escorted the princesses onto the field, where the anticipation mounted. All eyes turned skyward when sounds of an approaching helicopter were heard. The helicopter landed, and Mike Bendetti, the 1984 Homecoming King, emerged bearing the long awaited envelope. The 1985 Homecoming Queen Chrissie Yort! Shouts of, "I got it, I got it!" were heard from John Cecil after his record-breaking kiss with Chrissie Yort. 🍷

Several talented varsity football players excelled in a strong defensive game against the Estancia Eagles Oct. 25. 1. One player who stood out was Sean Turner, here running for a touchdown that pushed the Sea Kings up seven points to a total of sixteen in the second quarter. His touchdown was one of the two offensive scores of the game; the other was achieved by senior Chris Warner. 2. Kevin McLaughlin grapples with a tough Estancia player, contributing to CdM's brilliant defense that kept the Eagles scoreless in the second half; however, the Eagles went on to win 21-16. 3. # "It's A Small World"

One clear, starry night in late October, 250 Corona del Mar students and their dates gathered to celebrate their own "small world." White fluffy clouds and silver stars accented with pink and white transformed the Commons into a festive dance hall. The band, "The Lost 45's," blasted the students' favorite pop tunes as well as some oldies. Seniors Cheryl Ward and Susan Tompkins exclaimed, "The band and decorations made it the best dance ever!" At 11:30, the suspense ended as Mike McCallum was crowned 1985 Homecoming King. The traditional dance with Queen Chrissie Yort followed.

Halloween haunts the halls

As a sexy Bo Derek, a gruesome Frankenstein, and a Crayola Blue Crayon prance up to announcer John Cecil, Mr. Mike Starkweather, Mr. Jim Rogers, and Mr. Mike Marino scramble to tally the points to determine first, second, and third place winners in three costume categories. Freshman Jeff Taylor received the first place award for originality with his Statue of Liberty costume, created by draping sheets over his body. Gory faced mummies, Dawna Coon and alumnus Chris Kirsch won a Hershey's chocolate bar for the most life-like category. Spirited seniors McG Nichol and Andy Nesselrod captured first place in the humorous category by representing "jive talking black dudes", carrying blaring 2 feet long ghetto blasters. Other creative costumes included Disneyland's Goofy, a bright orange M&M, and a golden-haired lion. To many, this year's Halloween celebration was a particular success, due to the enormous turnout of costume-clad students. 🍬

Scenarios '85: A Grand Opening

1

Corona del Mar's newly-renovated Little Theater celebrated an exciting grand opening thanks to the 1985 Drama department, who presented seven award-winning performances of Scenarios '85: A Comedy of Errors. The players, organized by adviser Jo Black and Drama Club President Penny Buchanan, enraptured the audience with comic sketches such as Dracula, with Bryan Cooper as Igor. An exciting addition to this year's production was Cheryl Huggins' original screenplay and performance in My Sister Sarah, a story of a high school student and the problems she faced in having a retarded sister. In keeping with the theme, Cara Hoepner performed a soliloquy from Shakespeare's A Comedy of Errors. Several Neil Simon selections were brilliantly acted, including California Suite, in which Mathias Schar and Jill Woodburn imparted a very realistic feeling to the audience. The finale, a hilarious dance segment, featured the entire cast and was a fitting conclusion to an entertaining production. 🎭

What a Sale!

Competition was fierce as classes and clubs tried to sell as many magazines as possible to win an all-you-can-eat pizza party. This occurred during the annual magazine sale Nov. 12-22. The seventh and eighth grades dominated the 9-12 classes in both selling magazines and winning prizes. Robert Rizzo, a seventh grader, won the grand prize. He had to choose between a trip to Hawaii or a home stereo, both valued at $250; he chose the stereo because he wasn't able to go to Hawaii. The top high school club was the Ebbside staff. A treasure chest was opened daily which contained cash, candy, and other prizes. These were awarded to persons who sold at least one magazine.

At least $38,000 dollars worth of magazines were sold, and of that, the school made $15,000 profit. Tony Gilbreath, CdM comptroller, said, "After everything has been paid for, we hope to show some profit, but overall, it was a successful sale." ☺

You Can't Take It With You

How many families do you know who would allow a Russian dancer to come into their home and teach an uncoordinated daughter ballet? How about a grandpa who works with explosives in the basement? One such bizarre family visited CdM's campus Dec. 5-8 when the drama department presented one of their best shows ever. "CdM's version of You Can't Take it With You came together well after months of rehearsal and a lot of hard work," stated Penny Buchanan, drama president. The story centered around a rather off-the-wall family with the exception of daughter Alice, the only one who seemed to realize the differences between her family and any other. Appearing in the production were Mathias Schar, Bryan Cooper, Cheryl Huggins, Penny Buchanan, Todd Thompson, and Deanne Jacobs.

This play, directed by Joanne Black, was one well worth the audience's time and money. 🌟

Local bands entertain on CdM's campus

As one of this year's goals to promote school spirit, many lunch time bands were scheduled. Some of these included The Tories, Animosity, and On The Edge. The Tories are the school's favorite band and have been together for about six years. The members include Stan Frazier, Nick Sopkovich, and Rodney Shepard. "Right now we are trying to get exposure and soon hope to take a tour in Europe," says drummer Stan Frazier. On The Edge is mostly going for local exposure and is playing at schools and parties. Members include Chip Robinson, Kevin Whitehouse, Robby Patterson, and Matt Hurray. Lead singer Matt Hurray explains, "We are a new band and are coming on strong. Right now we are planning a tour with Burnt Party Hosts. We want Brandon to know we appreciate him giving us our start!" Right now all of these bands are just having fun and taking each step as it comes.

A Black Tie Affair

"A Black Tie Affair," the theme of the Girls' League-sponsored winter ball, created a holiday atmosphere Saturday Dec. 7. Paper top hats with black and white balloons attached to the top decorated the tables surrounding the dance floor. Refreshments were provided outside for couples to cool off after dancing. The dance was held at the new Pacific Federal Plaza from 9 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. Two hundred and seventy-five couples danced to the rock 'n roll tunes of Scandal. At midnight, Jim Onstott was crowned 1985 Snow King by a singing telegram deliverer dressed as one of Santa's elves. Other nominees were Ross Boon, John Cecil, Steve Chabre, Jason Likins, Kevin McLaughlin, Bob Seely, and Chris Warner. Onstott became Girls' League Sweetheart for the rest of the year. Club president Susie Paulsen comments, "The dance was a big success. It was great having it at the Pacific Federal Plaza." ❄️

CdM Seaweeds brighten the holidays for Long Beach veterans

The sounds of "Haul out the Holly" echoed through the halls of the Long Beach Veterans' Hospital as more than 75 seventh and eighth graders eagerly awaited the traditional Christmas festivities. The talent-show portion of the trip consisted of eight performances, including tap dancing, ballet, Christmas-oriented skits, and songs accompanied by Jim Roberts on the piano. The theatrics concluded with all the seventh and eighth graders singing "Let There Be Peace On Earth" and "Silent Night." After the students finished, they mingled with the veterans giving each one of them a miniature Christmas tree, and a gift and various pastries donated by the students. In addition, the computer classes created Christmas cards and large "Merry Christmas" banners for the veterans. 🎄

Sea Weed enthusiasm supports CdM

The seventh and eighth graders excelled in the magazine sales (as usual) and have had well-attended dances. A seventh and eighth grade combined Homecoming dance was held; a d.j. played their favorite tunes. According to Fiona Locke, eighth grade president, "The dances have been much more put together and fun." Brian Tyler, an eighth grader, feels there has been improved relations with the upperclassmen. "Upperclassmen and seventh/eighth graders both have made more of an effort." The Sea Weeds often attend the football games and have remarkable school spirit and enthusiasm. ☺

Seniors grasp Family Feud title

3

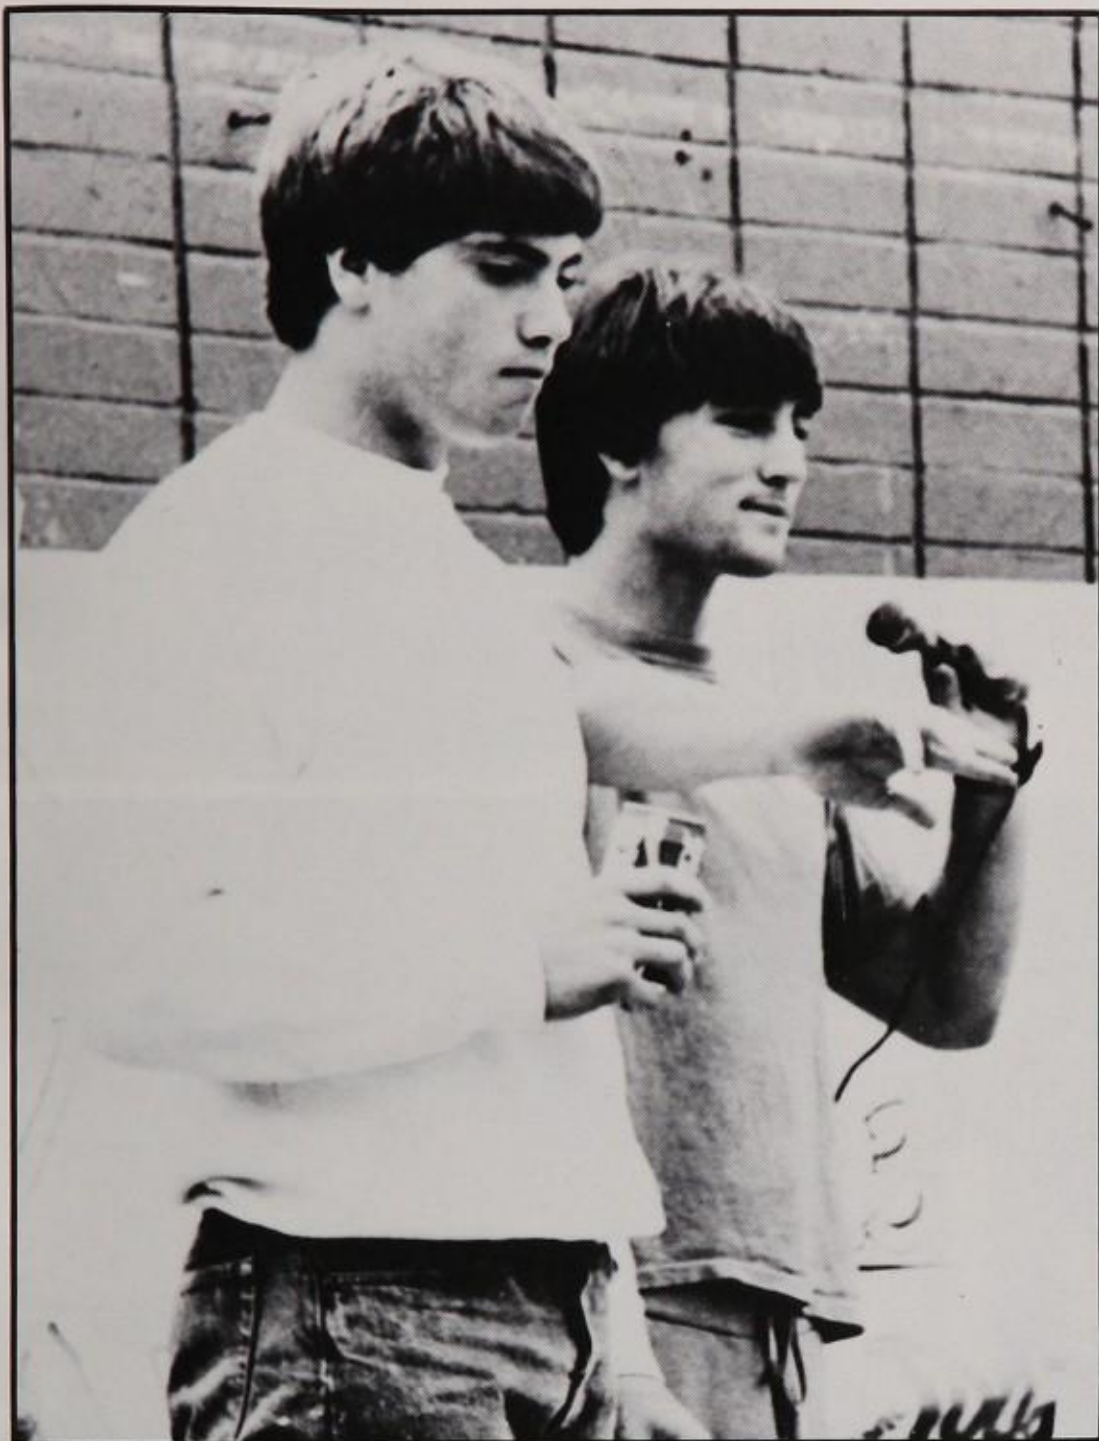

When the student body was asked in a poll what the most popular car was, Rich Pethigal's milk truck came up quite often. Not one of the five seniors or sophomores who participated in Family Feud knew the answer. It soon became an obvious guess, and many even said it was accurate. The Family Feud game was held at lunch during the week of Jan. 22-24. On the first day, five juniors had an outstanding victory over the freshmen. Then on Thursday, the seniors had a successful win, beating the sophomores. On Friday there was a close game between the rival senior and junior classes. Although it was a hard fought battle, the seniors were victorious for yet another year. 🏆

Musical chairs sets off school spirit

As the music plays, the two remaining contestants walk cautiously around in a small circle. The music stops, and Brooke Gurley easily slides into the last remaining chair, but then, to her surprise, Mike Briggs slips over the chair behind Brooke, forcing her to the floor. Mike ended up winning a Music Market gift certificate. Kim McGuinness, this year's Commissioner of Activities, planned the event for the 30 contestants. Musical chairs was one of this year's lunch time activities to help promote school spirit. ☺

1. During a close Family Feud game, Jim Donahue takes a stand to make sure the senior team will win. 2. The juniors concentrate on beating the freshmen Family Feud team. 3. This year's commissioner of activities Kim McGuinness and senior class pres. Steve Chabre make the final decision on who won Family Feud; meanwhile, an observing freshman makes sure everything is done fairly. 4. Dan Stefano makes sure the bell is placed so both sophomores and seniors have a fair chance. 5. Bonzo Painter and Steve Chabre carefully decide when to turn off the music while announcing musical chairs. 6. Julie Natland, Michelle Abajian, and Julie Smith eagerly fight for two seats while playing musical chairs. 7. Brad Jacobsen easily gets a seat while Rhonda Schnitger and Kim Linden fight for the last available seat.

Clubs earn their money

Money, money, money. Everyone wants it, but who has it? Well, this year every club and organization found ways of finding some, and most of them found it the old-fashioned way—they earned it. Girls' League spent a full day washing cars to earn $300. However, their sucker sale, which grossed $600, was the "most successful," according to Susie Paulsen. Colleen Mills commented that the Spanish Club made "mucho dinero" or $280 for the earthquake victims in Mexico. Ebbtide and Trident earned $676.94 and $317.45 respectively from the annual magazine sale. Other fundraisers included Latin Club's sucker sale, Speech Club's Boone board sale, Orchesis' pie and pop-tart sale, Keywanette's flower sale, and Key Club's calendar sale. ☺

Mr. Mike Marino and Mr. Bill Pascual cook hamburgers for students at the ASB lunch-time barbecue. 5. Susie Paulsen accepts money in exchange for Girls' League bake sale goods.

CdM's winter concert: A Musical Jubilee

Due to a controversy over the separation of church and state, CdM's annual winter concert was held Jan. 5 in the boys' gym. The concert, renamed an enrichment assembly, had three performances, one of which was exclusively for seventh and eighth graders. John Cecil as the Master of Ceremonies delivered an opening speech, then led the students in singing our national anthem. The school's band played several upbeat tunes under the direction of Harry Corea. CdM's Concert Choir and Madrigals, both directed by Loretta Robinson, sang several pieces including a lively gospel tune featuring Mr. Serge Beltran as the tenor solo, and Tina Minna and Renee Hoffman as soprano soloists. The orchestra followed, brilliantly executing classical selections, including a minuet. The exciting finale was a combined effort of both the choir and orchestra, performing a "Sound of Music" medley. ☺

1. Noah Elias sets the rhythm for the band's final number. 2. The alto section of CdM's Concert Choir helps to establish a patriotic feeling in singing "The Star-Spangled Banner." 3. Gabriel Eckstein receives last minute instructions on his violin solo. 4. Robert Seling and Frank Hsu produce a strong, supportive cello sound. 5. Anne Viehe puts a lot of hard practice on her flute part of "Minuet in E-flat."

Seniors Dominate Spirit Week

To boost school spirit, ASB organized Spirit Week. During the week of March 17-21, students representing each grade competed in an array of lunchtime events ranging from a tug-o-war to a hamburger-eating contest.

In the first day's tug-o-war competition, the juniors' early victory was voided because of suspected foul play on the side of the juniors, and during the rematch, the seniors won. On Tuesday, the classes clashed in a game of nation-ball in the Boys' Gym where the seniors once again won. The next day, a pyramid-building contest was held in the Quad. The object was to build a fifteen-man pyramid in three minutes. All the classes (even the freshmen) successfully built the pyramids within the time limit. Final winners were once again the seniors with an astonishing time of twenty-three seconds. Junior Brian Vaughan triumphed in the hamburger-eating contest, wolfing down a Quarter Pounder and a Fillet-O'-Fish, a Big Mack and a McDLT. The final event was an obstacle course, in which members of each class did everything from pullups and running around the grass to pushing a ball along the ground with their heads. Once again, the seniors won this contest, almost making it a clean sweep for the senior class. 🏆

In the process of winning the hamburger-eating contest, Brian Vaughan hurries to swallow his Big Mac, preparing for the McDLT.

Activities encourage spirit and unity

Activities are a major part of life at CdM. It seems that not a week goes by without a dance, a lunchtime activity, or a fundraiser. Activities bring variety and spirit to the school and unify the student body. Many of the activities—such as car washes, bake sales, and the annual Key Club calendar sale—help raise money for various clubs and organizations on campus. Most of the activities are purely recreational and have become traditions at CdM — Family Feud, Winter Formal, dressing up for Halloween, and musical chairs, to name a few.

Mr. Allen Waterman, director of activities, stressed, “Activities are important to the school because they encourage unity among the students and offer a change of pace.” ☺

Orchesis leads CdM on a world tour

"Let's pork out!" After the Saturday night performance of "Dancin' in the Streets", twenty-six exhilarated, tired, and hungry girls ate their way through the annual slumber party. It had taken hours of work to produce this show; now came the time to celebrate.

Everyday after school, and Saturdays and Sundays too, the girls of Orchesis met in the dance room to rehearse. Then technical rehearsals began at the Newport Harbor Auditorium. It was tough, but the work paid off. Orchesis performed three nights, Feb. 6, 7, 8, to a packed house of 400 people.

Act I took the audience on a trip around the world: Tokyo, New Orleans, Paris, Liverpool, Cairo, Moscow, Waikiki, Washington D.C., Detroit, Kingston, 42nd Street and Broadway New York. Act II provided the girls with a chance to let their creativity fly, creating dances of every style, mood, and era: Sam You Made the Pants Too Long, Freak Beat, See You, Senior Dance, Optical Illusion, After Eight, Limb to Limb, The Feel of the Future, On the Rooftops of London. A special video comprised half of the finale, filmed at four different locations in Newport Beach; thus, "Dancin' in the Streets".

The technical crew, under the supervision of Mr. Fred Cutler, added the finishing touches to the production, spending hours (along with the Orchesis girls) on lighting, producing an extremely professional show. 🍷

"You girls all worked really hard and have made us both very proud!" - Sharon Trager and Michelle Caumiant

"The feeling after the show is incredible; your face becomes all tingly as you go out to meet friends and family and to gather all those flowers!" - Susan Tompkins

"It can't be all over, can it?" - Orchesis

"The strobe lights on 'Feel of the Future' and the fluorescent tape in 'Optical Illusion' were great. The video made the perfect finale." - Greg Rhodes

"My hair is going to be pink forever!" - Shelley Winget

"MAGNIFICENT!" - Dr. Dennis Evans

Come On Down . . . To The Wild West

1

"Hey, girls, rope yourselves a date; don't wait!" exclaimed the many-colored posters in the Quad announcing CdM's annual Sadie Hawkins dance held on Saturday, April 12 in the Girls' Gym. The Trident staff, traditional sponsors of the dance, transformed the gym into an old western town complete with a town hall and a jail charging 25 cents, a kiss, or a 3-minute stay for even the most minor of charges. "Shotgun" weddings were performed for many anxious couples for the modest price of 50 cents, including a choice of rings. 700 students attended, decked out in their most festive western attire. The Ripptides provided lively, danceable music consisting mostly of oldies combined with some newer tunes. Trident staff member Erica Plastino added, "This year's dance was a great financial success as well as a heck of a lot of fun." ☺

Students play matchmaker during lunch

What road sign best describes yourself?

- a) Stop
- b) Men at Work
- c) Slippery When Wet
- d) Dangerous Curves Ahead

This and many other unique questions were asked by bachelors and bachelorettes in the Dating Game, held Feb. 20 and 21 in the Quad. Bonzo Painter and Dan Stefano led the lunch-time activities and played "matchmaker" to various male and female students. Each of the winning couples received a dinner out at the Ritz Carlton via limousine driven by Bonzo Painter, graciously paid for by ASB. Some of the couples who were paired: McG Nichol and Jill Tyler, Scott Lang and Terry Stulik, Brandy Bennett and Brian Cooper, and Janice Foster and Randy Long. 🍷

Baseball comes back with triumphant season

It is the third inning, batting for the Sea Kings is shortstop Robert Hess, who stares at the San Clemente pitcher. The count is 1-2 and the crowd becomes silent. The wind-up ... the pitch ... Robert swings ... and cracks a line-drive to the shortstop. As Hess races towards first base, the San Clemente shortstop bobbles the ball, and misfires his throw to the first baseman. Seizing the opportunity, Robert sprints towards second base and slides into the second baseman ... Safe!

Under the leadership of first-year coach Jerry Jelnick and many talented players, CdM's varsity baseball team's season was characterized by success. When asked about team unity, Gelnick replied, "The seniors are treating the underclassmen more like teammates instead of juniors and sophomores." In spite of a dismal '85 season, the team members displayed a positive attitude from the first day of practice.

Although plagued by inexperience, the dominant offense and defense were equally productive. Leading the team were seniors Kevin McLaughlin, Eric Luesebrink, and returning starters Ron Thommarson and Chris Greco. The formidable pitchers for the Sea Kings were Steve Clark, Andy MacMillan, and junior Robert Hess.

In the multi-talented Sea View league, the team's toughest competition was defending league champion University, rival Newport Harbor, Woodbridge High School, and Saddleback.

1. In the second inning Kevin McLaughlin connects for a line drive single. 2. Coach Sal and coach Jelnick concentrate on a new strategy. 3. Chris Greco attempts to pick a man off first base. 4. Andy MacMillan anticipates the opponent's pitch. 5. In a catcher's drill Eric Luesebrink successfully blocks the ball.

The Sea Kings have men on first and second when Andy Jones comes to bat. The count is 3-2, and on the next pitch Andy connects and lines a shot into center field for a single. Racing towards third, Dylan Rogan receives the coach's signal to continue home. The outfielder throws the ball towards home, but Dylan beats it by sliding into the plate.

This year's JV team, coached by Brent Melbon, had a triumphant season. Consisting mostly of sophomores, the team was young, but very talented. The offense was led by Andy Jones, Wayne Yates, and Tim Zweber while pitcher Joe George and shortstop Gary Sussman held the opponents in check.

Led by first-year coach Bill White, the frosh-soph baseball team endured a tough season. Top players Andy Carter and Rich Mather were very effective at the plate and also on the pitcher's mound. In league, the toughest competition which the team faced came from Woodbridge and University. When asked about the team's attitude toward the coach, freshman Paul Scott replied, "He stresses discipline the most, but the whole team respects his knowledge of the game." ••

1. In the last inning, Paul Scott fouls off the pitcher's fast ball. 2. Devon McFadden shows a variety of pitches during pitching tryouts. 3. With his famous curve ball Andy Carter strikes out the opponent. 4. Mike Loos practices his swing at batting practice.

The bases are loaded in the bottom of the 9th inning. A grand slam is needed by the girls' softball team to win the close game. Ali Dickson steps up to the plate with a determined look. The Woodbridge pitcher throws a curved fastball. Ali swings with all her might. She connects. The ball sails over the center fielder's head. The game is won by the almighty Sea Queens.

With the addition of two pitchers, Sharon Teeter and freshman Shelly Lynch, the varsity team improved their defensive attack against tough competition from Newport Harbor and Costa Mesa. Under Coach Ted Williams, returning starters Ali Dickson, Heather Haskell, Amy Johnston, and Bryanne Cobb led the team to success. The dedicated J.V. team worked hard to fulfill their potential. Though young and inexperienced, the girls pulled off an eventful season. 🏆

1. Kirsten Raymond keeps her eye on the ball as she gets ready to swing. 2. While Heather Haskell prepares to catch the softball, Anne Johnston swings with all her might. 3. Catcher Heather Haskell returns the ball to the pitcher. 4. Shelly Lynch winds up as she practices her fastball. 5. During a double play, Ali Dickson catches the ball at first base.

Loads of talent leads Sea Kings to success

With five seconds left in the game, the Sea Kings trail by one point. Tod Bearbower dribbles the ball towards the hoop and attempts a shot. The ball makes it, but the basket doesn't count because Tod is charged with an offensive foul. Sea Kings lose the game and ended up placing fifth in the Irvine tournament.

This year, CdM's varsity basketball team was led by captains Tod Bearbower, Sean Turner, and Jeff Fryer. Together and with help from outstanding players Doug Green, Tim Christiansen, and Mark McGrath, the Sea Kings pulled off a very successful season. "We have a lot of talent, and we have a good chance of obtaining the league title this year," stated Coach Jack Errion. "We have a lot of work ahead of us though." 🏆

Frosh, Soph, and J.V. basketball have excellent year

The score is tied with four seconds left on the clock in a game between CdM and Irvine. Freshman Rich Mather is fouled and steps to the line for two free throw shots. He sinks them both, and CdM wins the game.

CdM's Freshman, Sophomore, and J.V. Basketball teams have had an excellent year, led by Jeff Clarke on the freshman team, Geoff Probst and Mark Luesebrink on the sophomore team, and Mike Cole on the J.V. squad. CdM teams were among the top in the league thanks to their leading point scorers Matt Harrington, Evan Stuart, and Mike Cole for the freshman, sophomore, and J.V. team respectively. According to one team member, CdM's toughest competition came from University and Woodbridge. 🏀

A Newport Harbor player shoots for the basket and misses. Michelle Willard gets the rebound and passes the ball to K.C. Jones. K.C. then dribbles around Newport's defensive line and shoots for a basket. Spectators cheer with excitement! K.C. Jones has scored eleven points to bring CdM into the lead with a 17-9 first quarter advantage.

The girls' basketball team had a slow start in the season, losing two non-league games, but came back with wins over Estancia, Laguna Beach, and Newport Harbor. The team was led with standout performances by K.C. Jones (with game-highs of thirty points) and Michelle Willard (with game-highs of twenty-three rebounds).

The J.V. team, although inexperienced, finished with wins over Laguna Beach and Laguna Hills. The team was led by Brenda Wallace, Bonnie Hagan, and Kellee Cohen. ☺

Seaweed teams come up from behind

The Davis players come onto the court expecting an easy win. The score throughout the game is close. During the last quarter, CdM leads, then Davis leads. In the last 20 seconds, the score is tied 44-44; Davis gets lucky and scores the winning basket. "This year was a strengthening year for the Seaweeds," says Coach Starkweather about the seventh grade, eighth grade, and 5'4" and under basketball teams. The kids are more serious about participating in the program this year because there isn't last year's problem of transporting the kids to Lincoln to practice every day."

The eighth grade team surprised people this year when they went to league finals and took second place. The team was led by Danny O'Neil. The seventh grade team was led by Mike Evans and Brent Brennan. They placed 3rd in league, losing their second play-off game. The 5'4" and under team made it into the playoffs, losing their second game. This team was led by Mark Flint, Jon Murphy, Justin Pierce, and Steve Niedringhaus. About next year, Coach Jim Patterson says, "We look to see a lot from this year's seventh grade and 5'4" and under teams." 🏆

Cross country places third in league

The Estancia/Woodbridge/CdM race is coming to a close, and Jim Robbins and Greg Shryock are neck and neck with the other teams' runners close behind. Jim and Greg encourage each other as they strive to win. With the finish line just ahead, Jim and Greg speed up and cross it within .01 second of each other — Jim first and Greg second. Teamwork had paid off! Both CdM runners came in together with terrific times.

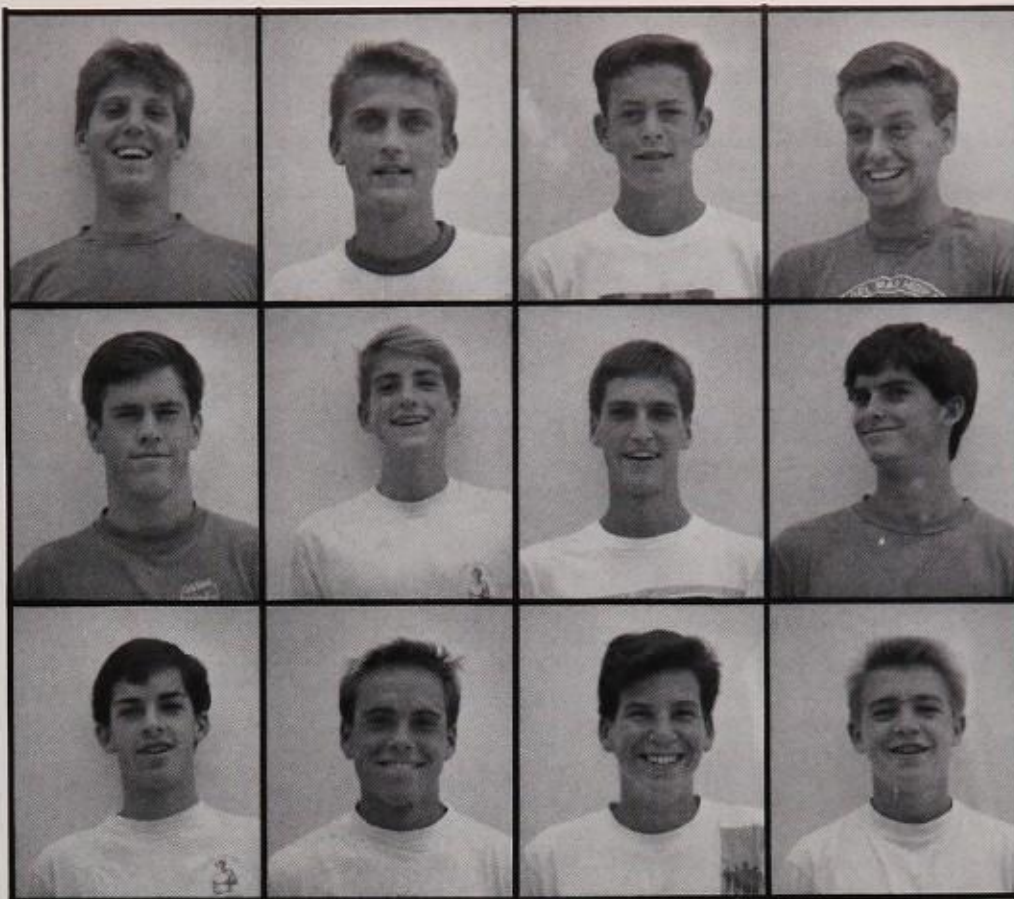

Coaches Bill Sumner and Jim Tomlin, and varsity stars Jim Robbins, soph.; Greg Shryock, fr.; and captains, Tom Holland, Roy Hobbs, and Mitch Brown led the boys' cross-country team to continual victory. The team's toughest competition was Harbor and Estancia. When asked what was the team's main goal, Tom Holland responded, "Our first goal is to win league, and our second is to go to CIF and place in the top five." The team ended their year by placing third in league. 🏆

The freshmen and sophomore runners pace back and forth at the starting line. Each runner keeps to himself, concentrating hard. Coach Bill Sumner gives last minute advice to Jay Lightburne, one of CdM's outstanding runners. The runners line up behind the starting line; the gun goes off, and Jay Lightburne takes the lead. Bill Sumner watches with a smile on his face: another victory for CdM.

The junior varsity and frosh/soph cross-country teams finished with an undefeated record. The teams were led to victory by coaches Bill Sumner and Jim Tomlin. The teams' main goal is to win CIF when they are seniors; they are young and have potential.

Both teams second in league

With two-hundred yards to the finish, Leslie Cashion starts pulling away from surrounding runners. One by one she passes rival Newport Harbor, Woodbridge, and Laguna Beach. She knows that she must give everything she has for her team to help them place second in league. With strong determination, she comes into the finish line for a sixth place finish and a spot for her team in C.I.F.

Varsity lost many times in regular meets, but with strong will finished second at League Finals and qualified for C.I.F. Prelims. Outstanding runners on Varsity were Liz Holland, Leslie Cashion, Lisa Ford, d'Layne Kerr, and Darcy McGrath.

The J.V. team also placed second in league. The team was led by Bruyere Hefner, Cameron Hupp, Molly Marr, Erin Turner, Cammy Chabre, and Amy Okuda. 🏆

CdM Golf Putts Its Way To Victory

John Wardrup approaches the 18th hole, trailing behind the Esperanza leader by one stroke. Every spectator is silent as he lines up his shot; if he makes it in one attempt he can win the match. John gently swings his club. The ball teeters towards the cup and finally sinks in. There is a huge uproar of cheers, and John Wardrup smiles in satisfaction.

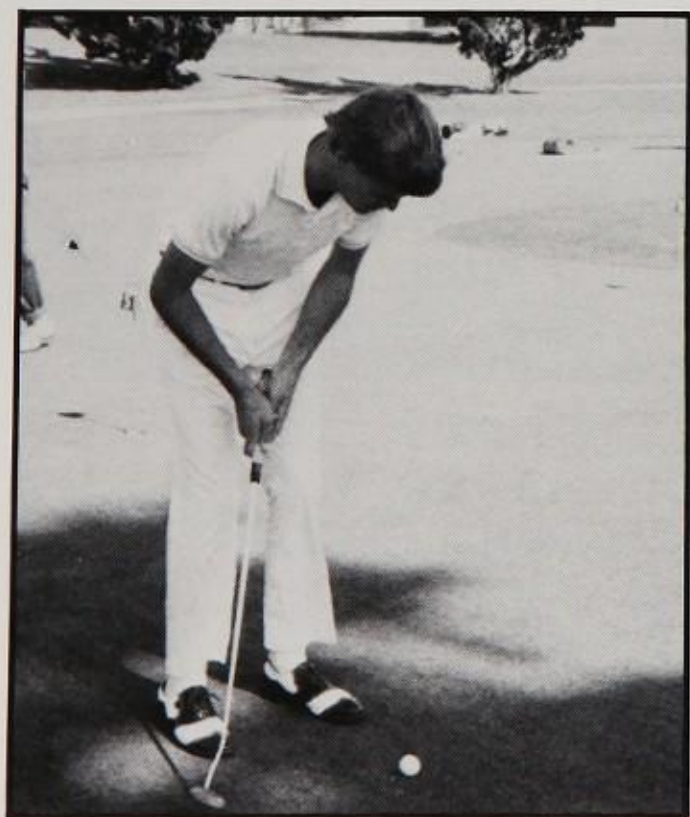

The 1986 golf team started their season by beating state champions Palm Springs by 21 strokes. Most of the team's strength was due to team captain John Wardrup and team members Tony Dupre, Sean Daniels, Tyler Hesse, and Matt Campagna. The team played 8 matches and 8 league games, proving victorious over University, Laguna Beach, Estancia, and Newport Harbor. Team members agreed that golf allowed them to compete with some outstanding golfers. 🏆

Jeff Silver and Chris Smith line up for the 100 yd. dash. Their eyes focus on the finish tape as they hear the starter's gun. Both boys spring forward out of the starting blocks. In mere seconds they cross the finish line one after another: Chris Smith first and Jeff Silver second.

A strong Sea Weed track team dominated this year's junior high league, sweeping most of their meets. With new coaches Kathy Sexton and Steve Messenger the team was able to make new goals and to create a spirited atmosphere. The returning standouts on the team were Rena Pitchess, Chris Smith, Jeff Silver, and Mark Flint in the sprints, and Matt Jordan in the shot-put. Middle distance returning talents were Lindsay Hayand and Risa Hoffman. 🏆

Scott McManigal and Estancia's top runner Eric Dorn line up for the high hurdles. The starter tells the runners to get into their blocks. Scott's eyes are down, he hears the starter say set, and then he hears a bang. His gaze is still downward as he sprints out of the blocks, but when his gaze lifts, the first thing he sees is a huge hurdle in front of him. With a great effort Scott sails over the first hurdle. Scott and Eric are neck and neck through the whole race, but Scott stretches his stride as he approaches the finish line and throws his body forward, breaking the tape seconds before his opponent.

As could be expected, the boys' track team had a very successful season. CdM dominated all their meets, but their toughest competition came from Estancia. Returning to the championship track team were valuable captains Scott McManigal, Tod Bearbower, Mitch Brown, Mike McCallum, Bob Painter, and Michael Bain. Outstanding talents on the track team were Drew Krum and Brian Hueston in the sprints, Jim Robbins in the distance events, and Scott McManigal and Tod Bearbower in the field events. "We were extremely tough this year because we had a lot of all around talent," quoted Tod Bearbower. 🏆

Girls' track takes the lead

The stands are filled with anxious spectators. The runners take a deep breath before inserting their spikes into the starting blocks. Jill Harrington and Kathleen MacMillin give each other a glance of encouragement as they begin the 440 race against Estancia. They start the race strong and with only 50 yards left, four girls are within 4 yards of each other. The cheers grow in velocity as the finish line is reached by . . . Jill Harrington, then Kathleen MacMillin, and then the Estancia competitors!

With a track team of 80 girls, the Sea Queens had an excellent season. Before the season had begun, Coach Kaczinski said, "We should have an outstanding season this year," and his prediction came true. Track team captains were Leslie Cashion, Jill Harrington, and Darcy McGrath.

"The team spirit and support made running really worthwhile," stated Cammie Chabre. 🏆

CdM beats rival Newport Harbor

Trailing by one point and only two minutes left in the game, the Sea Kings knew they had to go for the two point conversion for the win. All the spectators were standing, hoping, and praying that the mighty Sea Kings would come through. Quarterback Mitch Melbon took the snap from center, rolled to his right, and threw the ball to Sean Turner, who powered his way the last two yards into the end-zone. Sea King fans were ecstatic. Newport Harbor then marched the ball down the field, but an attempted field goal went wide; the Sea Kings, after three years, brought the bell back home. As time ran out, the score board read 15-14.

The Corona del Mar football team had a slow start in the season, losing to Huntington Beach 23-7, but came back with wins over San Clemente, Costa Mesa, and University. This year's offense was executed perfectly by Kevin McLaughlin, Mitch Melbon, Sean Turner, and Chris Warner. The defensive line was led by the intensity of Matt Dubow, Larry Braden, and Craig Nixon. When asked how he felt about the team, Coach Holland stated, "I've never felt as good as I do about this football team. I felt they were good when they needed to be good." 🏆

Underclassmen show determination

The score was tied 0-0. CdM was moving on Capo Valley's 2-yard line. The hand-off went to Matt Patterson who pulled into the end zone for a 7-0 lead. The Sea Kings went on to win 14-0.

The sophomore team had many such exciting moments, ending their season with six wins, two losses, and a tie; the team was led by determined players Derek Turner, Matt Patterson, and Kurt Ehmann. Head Coach Bill Cool said, "We're extremely proud of our players and our successful season."

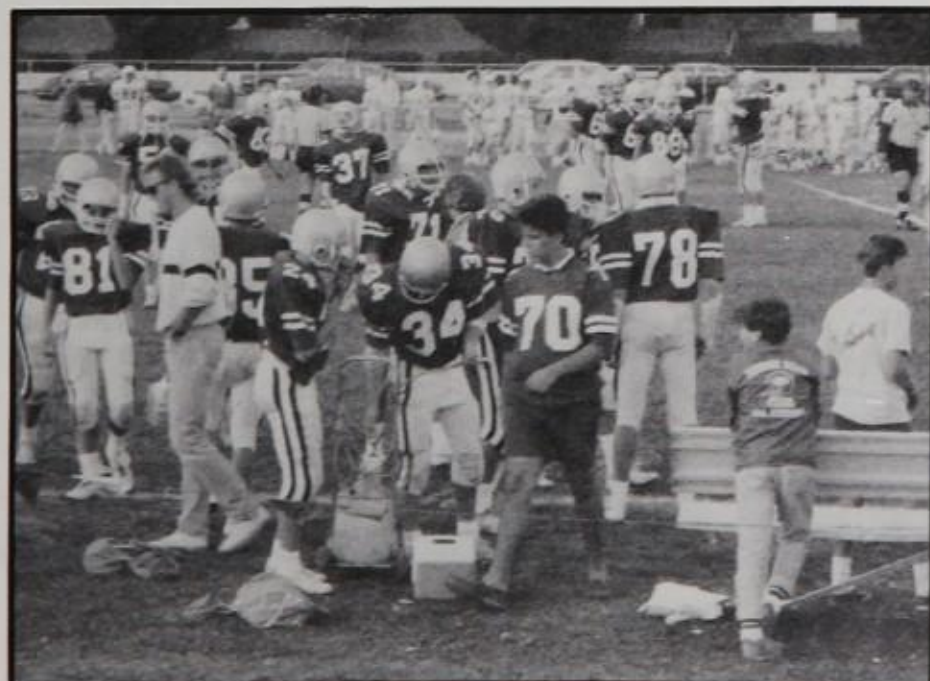

The freshman team had an action-packed season as well; their record was 5-4. Coach Brent Melbon stated, "This is one of the most determined teams I've ever seen." 🏆

Activities thrive during out-of-school time

Tranquility is not the only thing that lures Scott to rowing.

The water is still; a slight mist clings to its surface; silence hangs in the air, and the only sound that can be heard is the faint call of a bird. This tranquility is one of the reasons why Scott McManigal rows.

"I haven't been rowing for long, but I know that this is what I want to participate in in college." Scott was a member of a 16 and under offshore outrigger canoe team which won a State Championship in 1984. It was during that summer that Scott's interest was sparked, and he knew he wanted to continue rowing.

Towards the end of August 1985, UCI freshman coach Bob Whitford took an interest in Scott and started training him in a 26 foot racing single scull. Scott and his coach trained for two months, working on racing techniques as well as building up his endurance. Scott practices every morning during the week for about an hour, and on Saturdays he works out for about two and a half to three hours.

"Rowing is a good way for me to stay in shape, plus it is a lot of fun."

Scott plans on continuing his rowing in college and maybe even go back east to compete. 🏆

Cycling is another one of Kelly Toon's many talents.

"I love the freedom of cycling. It's just you and the road." It is hard to believe that someone as talented as Kelly Toon started his cycling career on his sister's old Schwinn Varsity that he fixed up himself. Kelly Toon got into cycling in the 7th grade because of both a lack of freedom and a lack of transportation. During his first years in cycling, Kelly's rides never exceeded 20 miles, but now he rides up to 25 miles daily and around 70-100 miles during the weekend. "Biking is one of the best ways to build up endurance. One of the reasons why I bike is because it gets me in shape for skiing." Kelly likes taking long rides to Irvine Lake, Long Beach, San Clemente, and Laguna Beach. He also likes taking short rides to Huntington Beach, El Toro, and around the Back Bay.

"Biking is fun especially on Coast Highway. I can always find someone to ride with or race with, and cyclists are all friendly; whenever we pass each other we always wave." 🏆

Alexis Meshi is not just another Seaweed

It's hard to believe that a seventh grader's goal is to be in the Olympics in either 1988 or 1992, but in Alexis Meshi's case it is not so hard to believe. Alexis wears a red belt, which is the highest level belt someone her age can wear. She got interested in karate at age six when her father took her to Newport Dojo, and she has been an avid participant in the sport ever since.

To prepare for a national event Alexis usually works out about six hours a day at the Japan Karate Federation studio in both Newport Beach and Costa Mesa with her coach Jackie Long. Alexis practices sumo wrestling, sparring, and Kata. Kata, which is Alexis' favorite category, is an individual event which tests form, balance, and karate technique.

Alexis has won many contests including a gold medal during an Amateur Athletic Union competition which named her the best in her age group nationwide in Kata. Alexis is looking forward to traveling with the national team and competing all over the world with them this summer and hopefully participating in the Olympics when karate is added to the games.

I use cycling to build up my endurance.

"In training my goal is to push any gear without feeling pain."

Chris Marsella got started cycling when two of his friends introduced him to the sport. Chris is a member of the United States Cycling Federation and the Open Bicycling Races Assn. Chris, during training, puts in a minimum of 250-300 miles a week. He trains with teammate Mike Green and Nelson Vails, silver medalist in the 1984 Olympics. During the week, Chris trains in the morning before school, and usually on weekends he rides to Long Beach, Dana Point or trains on hills in Mission Viejo. On Saturdays Chris usually rides with 25 guys on a 65-mile ride, and sometimes on Sundays he tries to ride with 30 guys to San Clemente, which involves riding at a fast pace about 100 miles. Chris plans to keep on riding, and he plans to keep on competing. In the future Chris hopes that one day he will be good enough and fast enough to compete in the Olympics.

"Beating Harbor was our best victory this year!"

With ten minutes into the first quarter, the score tied at 0-0, a Harbor player gets a fast break. The team is certain of a goal, but from out of nowhere comes Brandon Berger from behind and steals the ball from his opponent, preventing the goal. CdM wins 2-0, trampling their cross-town rival.

"Beating Harbor was our best victory this year," stated team member Tim Galusha.

"We have a strong midfield, consisting of Pat Merrel, Tim Galusha, and Robert Hesse, which helped us through the season," commented coach Brian Haney. Other outstanding players were Drew Krum and Steve Muzzy. The squad had eight returning members from last year, and the team's major goal this year was to make CIF play-offs. 🏆

J.V., Frosh/Soph soccer achieve their goals

It is a tough game between Corona del Mar's junior varsity team and Estancia High School. The score is 2-0, and CdM is hoping for a comeback in the later part of the second half. Pat Callaghan throws the ball to Damian Kordick, who then, fighting for time, passes to Brad Burns. Brad Burns scores a goal from the 12-yard line, but CdM is unable to come back.

Corona del Mar's junior varsity, coached by Bruce Silverman, took second place in league with a record of 10-3-1. The team's most valuable players were Brad Burns, Vince Matteucci, Chris Chaves, and Matt Tomlin.

The Frosh/Soph team of Corona del Mar was led by coach Hagop Balikioglu and top players Graham Pierce, Brett Allen, and Will Hill. The action continued steadily throughout the whole year, and the Frosh/Soph team ended the season with a record of 8-5-1. 🏆

Girls' soccer breaks away to success

The game is CdM against Kate. Kate is favored to win. Surprisingly, CdM is ahead, 1-0. The ball goes out of bounds, and it's a corner kick. Jennifer Noonan, sets up to take the corner kick. She kicks a smooth, curving kick that lands the ball right in the back of the net, making the score 2-0 and giving CdM its first win of the season.

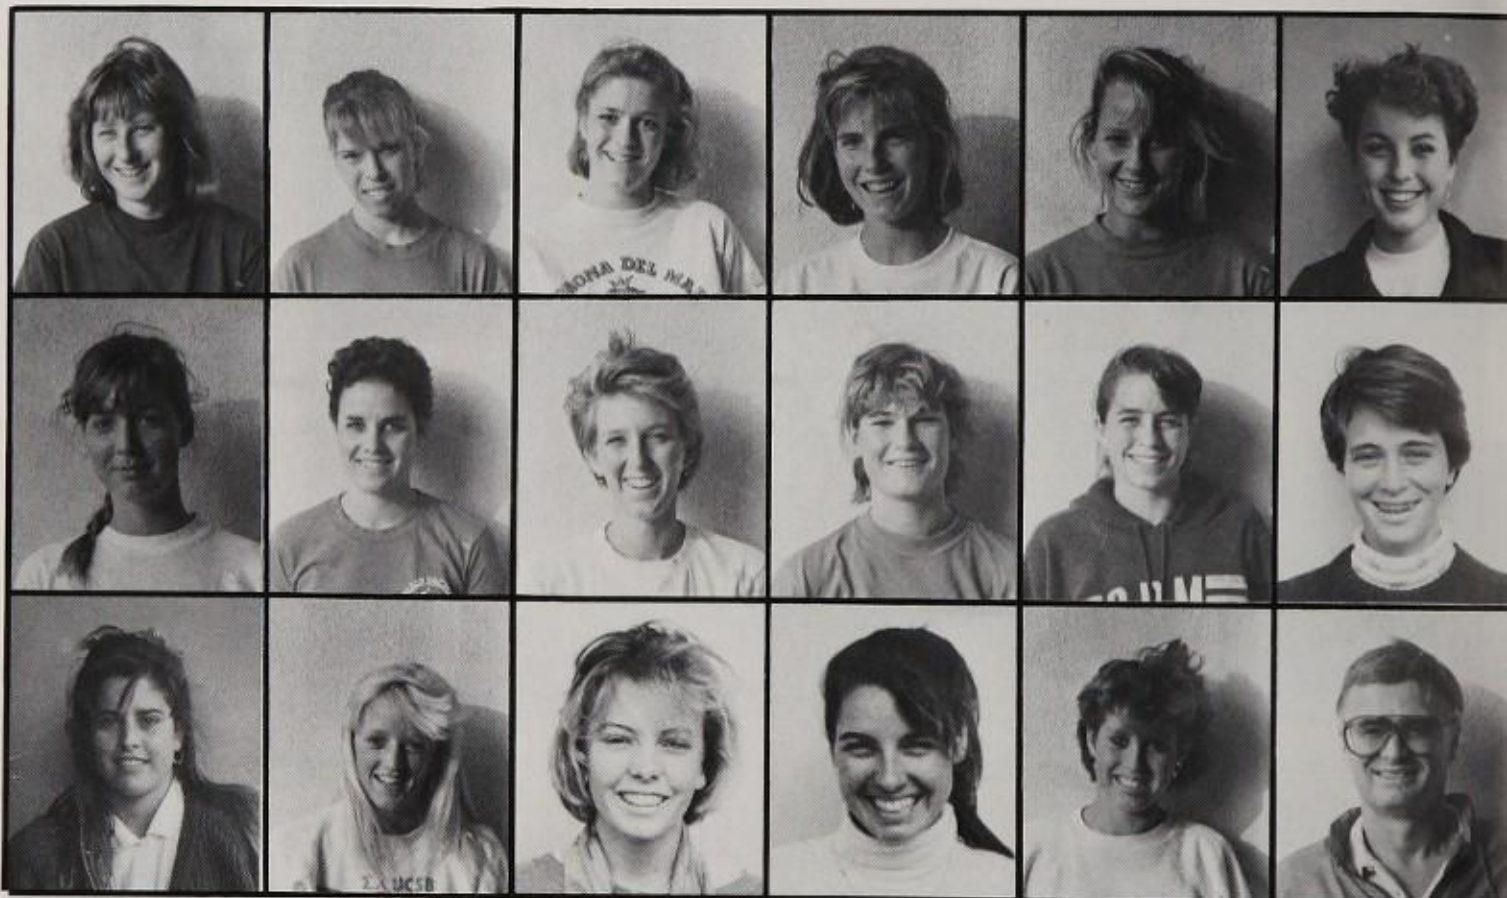

This year the varsity team was young. The four varsity freshmen — Julie Smith, Katie Geib, Tracy Boatman, and Kim Kolstad — all had starting positions.

The junior varsity soccer team had an exceptionally good year considering that Coach John O'Neil was a newcomer, and the team was also provided with the help of last year's coach, Kim Effinger.

Boys' varsity swimming enjoys a victorious season

"All swimmers in the water." Bob Seely dives in. He casually swims back to the starting block and grips the bar. Nervously Bob eyes his competitors, glancing to both the left and right. Suddenly the crowd quiets. "Swimmers take your marks . . ." The gun goes off. All five swimmers push from the wall. Bob is in the lead. It's a neck and neck race between Bob and his Estancia opponent. As the race approaches its end, Bob pulls ahead and finishes the race, only winning by one hundredth of a second.

Success dominated the 1986 boys' varsity swim team. This year's team was led by several top swimmers: Eric Ford, Jeff Harvey, Jason Likins, Eric Vinje, Bob Seely, Scott Marumoto, and Jeff Thomason. The swim team faced toughest competition in their first meet against Foothill and Newport Harbor, 1985 league champs, early in the season. Coach Mike Starkweather commented, "Last year we were sixth in CIF, and this year I hope the boys can be in the top four." 🏆

Varsity swimmers finish first in league

The race is close; it is critical to the outcome of the meet. The 4 by 100 free relay includes Samantha Smith, Kim Skeie, Kira Loofbourrow, and Georgina Smith. Georgina is now approaching her fourth length, only 10 yards behind the leader. Cheers from the crowd increase as Georgina begins to pass her University opponent. With a last sprint, Georgina reaches the wall first.

CdM girls' varsity swim team captured the Sea View League title this year with an exceptional season. The defending champs faced toughest competition against Woodbridge and University High School. Early in the season, Coach Doug Volding predicted, "We have a good chance to repeat as league champs this year, but it will take a lot of work." Tri-captains Susie Paulsen, Colleen Mills, and Kira Loofbourrow added, "We have such great talent and over-all team togetherness, we just can't lose." Sophomore Georgina Smith, top swimmer on the team, was excellently supported by sisters Samantha and Sara Smith as well as junior Jim Skeie. The unusually young team achieved its goal of "rebuilding" during this championship year.

Success dominates frosh-soph season

Frosh-Soph boys line up for 50 yd. freestyle event. Chip Blankenhorn steps up on the starting block. The referee calls, "Swimmers take your marks." Chip's determined eyes scan the pool. "Bang!" Chip takes off. He gets an early lead and after a quick turn sprints to the finish.

Frosh-Soph boys finished successfully in league facing toughest competition against cross-town rival Newport Harbor. Top swimmers included Brad Jacobsen, Chip Blankenhorn, Dave Cesario, Steve Ball and Gary Seelhorst. Coach John Vargas commented, "This has been the most dedicated team I've coached so far."

Frosh-Soph girls followed the boys with an equally successful season. The girls faced toughest competition early in the year, Feb. 28, against Foothill. Other highlights included the relay finals and the Newport Harbor meet. When asked about top swimmers, coach Leslie Cole responded, "They're all equal . . . we've got a lot of depth; a lot of swimmers can do a lot of things." Girls' frosh-soph was coached by Janet Williams and practiced from 4-6 pm. ☺☺

Twisting his racket in his sweating palms, Lance Gilbert turns to his doubles partner Darren Capik who is preparing to serve match point. Darren bounces the tennis ball, looks across the net at his opponents, and without a moment of hesitation smashes a perfect serve and wins another match for CdM.

In pre-season play, CdM's boys' varsity tennis set the pace by beating Rolling Hills in a home match. It was obvious from that success that the team would again ace the Sea View League, led by #1 singles player Mike Briggs and the #1 doubles team Lance Gilbert and Darren Capik. The team continued to rank #1 in the Sea View League. The team's great enthusiasm and love for competing helped them defeat even their toughest competition-University and Laguna Beach. According to Tim Galusha, "Tennis combines the excitement of both an individual sport and a team sport." 🏆

J.V./Frosh-Soph tennis teams ace their opponents

CdM tennis meets its arch rival University at the sixth tournament of the season. In the final set, the score is 5-4 CdM. Marc Pannier's challenger delivers a shattering serve; Marc returns it with a strong cross-court volley. A rally continues for what seems like eternity; then Marc's opponent smashes the ball past the baseline. "Out" cries the referee. CdM emerges victorious again.

The J.V. and Frosh/Soph tennis teams have a winning tradition which continued this year with no exception. Under coach Bill McQuaid, both teams did very well, University High School was their only competition. On the Frosh/Soph level, Marc Pannier, Bob Etebar, and Jordan Foster led the team. On the J.V. team, Geoff Barrow, Don Fucetti, and Chris Fisher were the key players. 🏆

Varsity captures league title

The Sea Kings remained undefeated until they met the Woodbridge Warriors. The match was tied, becoming necessary to tally the games to determine the winner. The Warriors edged out the Sea Kings, 75-74. This loss put CdM in a 3-way tie for first place, a position they defended all season.

Exceptional players, Kristi Phebus, Danielle Scott, and Robin Bain, ranked #1, #2, and #3 as singles players. Doubles teams, Gloria Rowbotham and Nicole Capretz, Tory Smith and Denise Mallos, and Gail Freedman and Rhonda Colley, played consistently well throughout the season. Coach Dave Heffren commented that this was one of his youngest teams ever. The team's youth certainly didn't hinder the squad; varsity finished the year #3 in Southern California. 🏆

Tennis teams remain undefeated

With a fierce determination, Melinda Hovee approaches the net. Racket over her shoulder, left arm raised skyward toward the rapidly advancing ball, she is perfectly poised. The tension mounts. At the very next instant, Melinda smashes the ball into her opponent's court - a victorious set for the CdM team!

Coached by Bill McQuaid and Dave Heffren, the CdM girls' JV/frosh-soph tennis team remained undefeated throughout the season with an especially remarkable victory against Mira Leste High School, rated #2 in Southern California. Top JV singles players included Jill Harshbarger, Jill Freedman, Katie Geib, and doubles teams Christina Gwin and Kristen Brownell, and Melinda Hovee and Elizabeth Bastiaanse. Both Melinda Hovee and Christina Gwin led the team in spirit through posters and cheers. Toughest competition, other than non-league Mira Leste, came from within themselves. As Christina Gwin and Kristen Brownell commented, "The highest point in the season was beating our rivals, Newport Harbor." 🏆

Tension filled the air as Brian Lewis stepped to the service line. It was the fifth and final game of the match. Both CdM and Newport Harbor were tied with two games a piece; the score, 15 to 14 CdM's advantage. Brian served a crushing ace which Newport Harbor could not return. CdM's spectators leaped to their feet in hysterics over the victory.

Boys' varsity volleyball went into the season with a strong team. According to their coach, John Weyhrauch, "Our rewarding season was a result of our hard work and positive attitude." The team was led by outstanding players Brian Lewis, Sean Turner, Jim Donahue, and Jay Wurts.

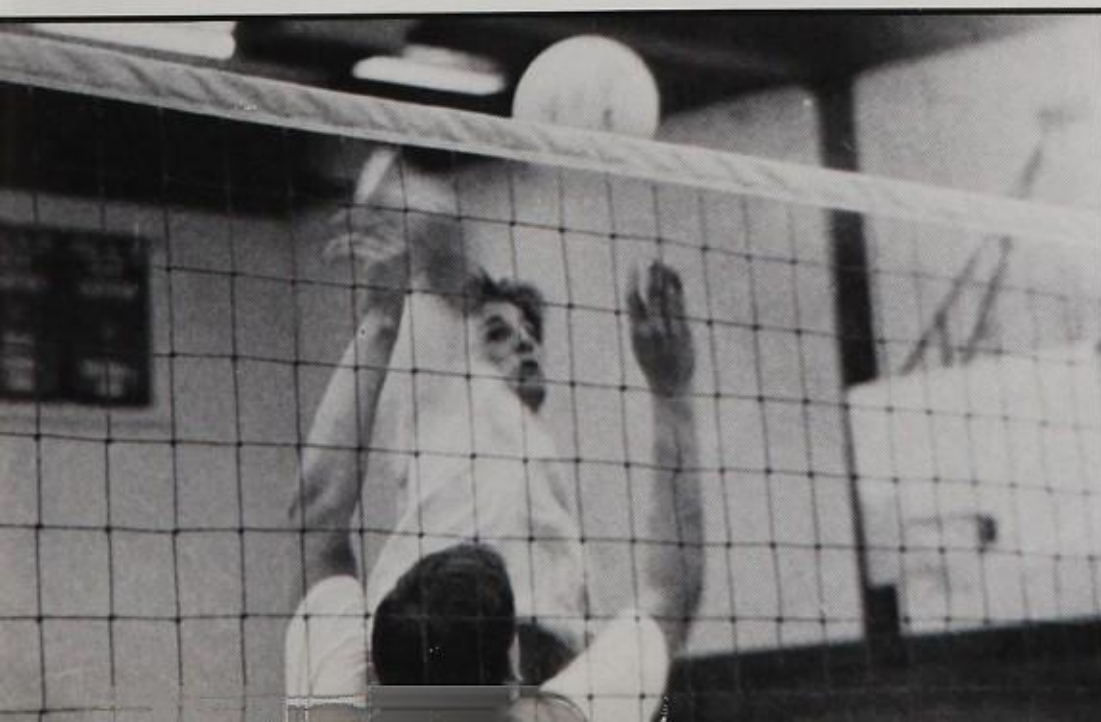

Returning J.V. coach Weyhrauch showed much confidence and enthusiasm for his team. Although a young team, they had great determination and showed much improvement as the season progressed. Those who showed team leadership and great ability were Greg Galusha, Tim Carlson, and Tom Schriber.

Corona del Mar and Laguna Beach are tied two games each. In the fifth game, CdM is down by one. It's Laguna's serve. This will be the deciding point. Jill Harrington returns the serve. It's a hard fought rally, but a Laguna player spikes the ball, winning the game.

This year's volleyball team most certainly carried through in spirit and unity. Although faced with tough opponents, hard work led the team to an 8-6 record, placing them fourth in league. This determination also carried them to CIF. The team was strong in all areas; a few outstanding players, as noted by coach Cheryl Brown, were "Rhonda Schnitger as setter, Christy and Kim Linden in the back row, and Jennifer Noonan as an outside hitter."

Flo Hyman of the USA Olympic volleyball team who observed CdM's team all season, remarked, "They have a lot of spunk!" 🏐

Spike to a winning season

Mike Brownell receives a serve from Davis. Skillfully, Mike sets the ball, and Clark Brogger, in perfect position, jumps up for a vicious spike. Davis loses the serve and CdM goes on to win 13-7, 13-8, 13-0.

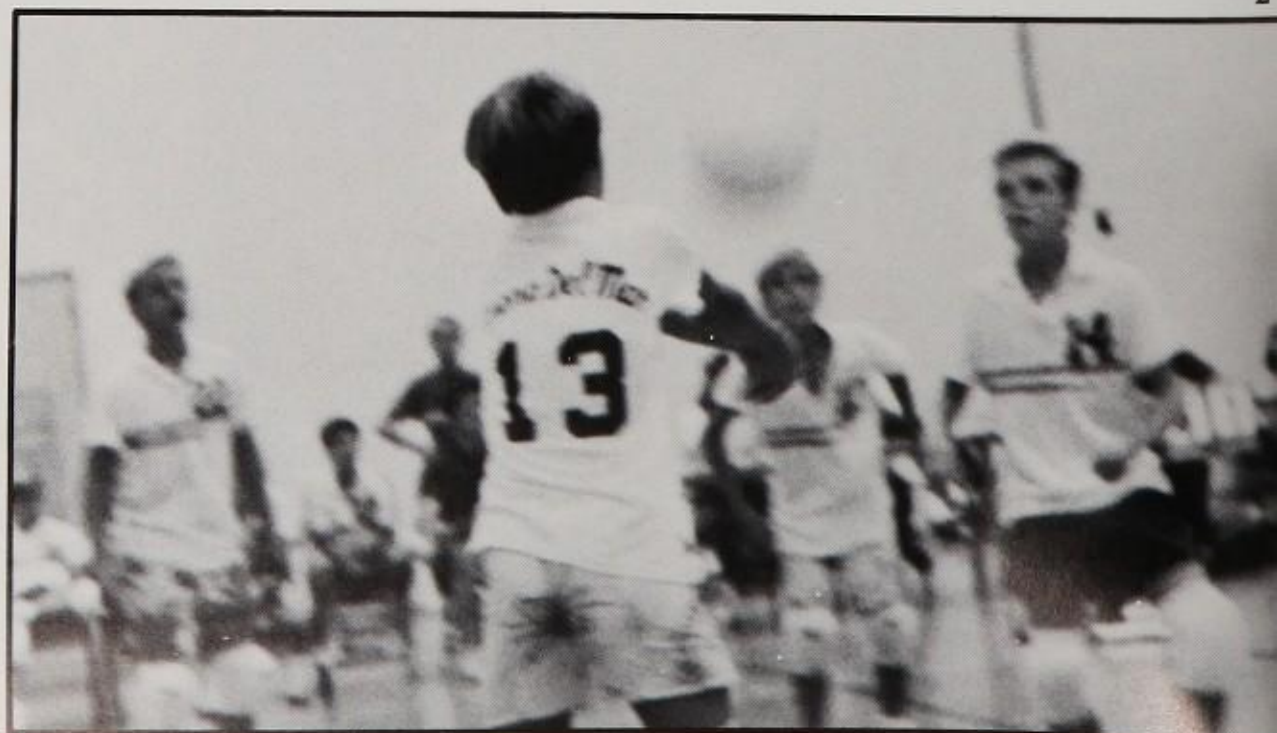

The 7/8 boys volleyball teams had an awesome first year! Each team played five games this season. At the beginning of the season, Coach Paul Serio predicted a practically undefeated season for the 7th grade team, and a good winning record for the 8th graders as well. Standouts on the 7th grade team were Brian Burns and Travis Pautsch, while Chip Pledsted and Don Wood stood out with the 8th graders. And, as 8th grade center and spiker, Clark Brogger remarks, "It's fun!" 🏐

7th & 8th grade succeed with winning seasons

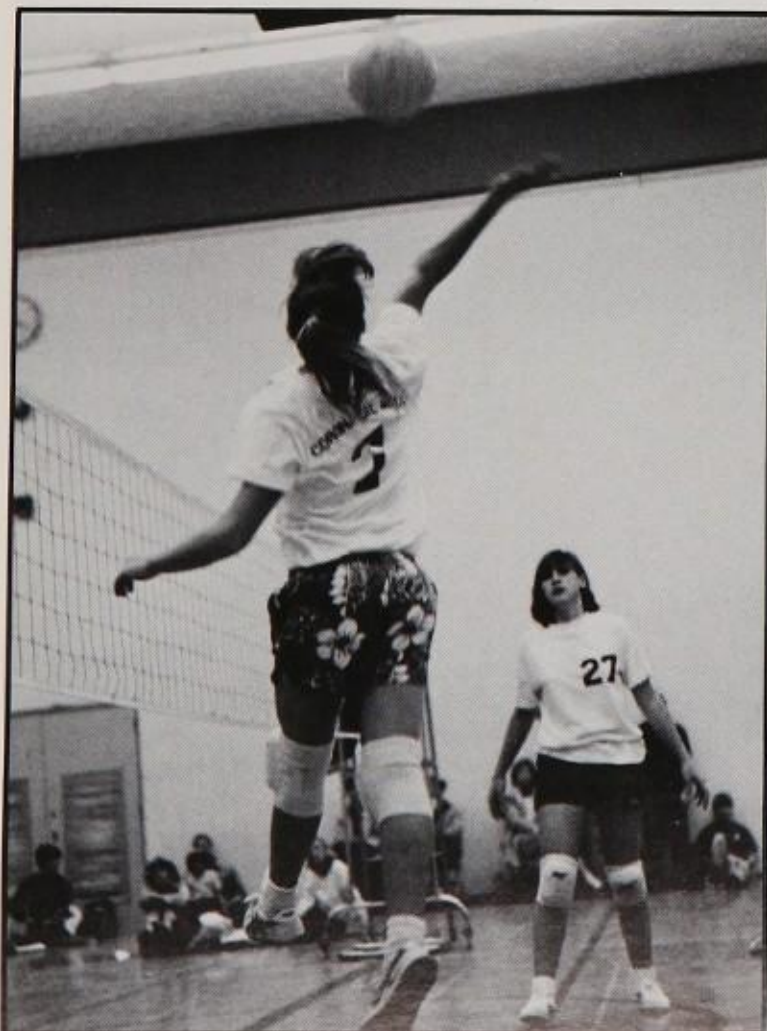

The score is 12-12; tension is at its peak. Marni Price's serve will be the deciding factor - if she aces it, CdM can surely win; if not, the serve goes back to Tewinkle, and all will be lost. The ball is in the air; fierce determination shows on Marni's face; she spikes it. The ball soars over the net, landing just 5 inches outside. Tewinkle goes on to win 15-12.

Coached by both Jack and Linda Hart, the girls' volleyball teams enjoyed an exciting season. Potential abounded on the 8th grade team; still, Coach Linda Hart commented, "Unfortunately the girls are too nice; they lack the 'killer' instinct to put their opponents away." Greatest ability was found in outstanding player Marni Price, with support from Missy Coppolino, Elyse Rothschild, and Megan Rodheim.

Natural talent characterized the 7th grade team. "They are tough, and they work hard to improve themselves and the team," commented Linda Hart. Consistently outstanding players Margaret Weese and Prentice Perkins, supported by Jennifer Simon, Denise Mahoney and Heather Flaherty, led the team in an undefeated season. 🏐

Waterpolo captures CIF title

The cheers from 2,487 spectators shake Belmont Plaza during CIF waterpolo finals. Sunny Hills, with a 29-0 record, and Corona del Mar, with a 21-6 record, go into a 3-minute overtime. The score is 5-5, and it is anyone's game. After a minute and a half of action-filled playing time, suspense turns to panic for Sunny Hills as CdM's Jason Likins scores. Despite Sunny Hills' shock at this unexpected goal, Bill Slope quickly tallies the score to 6-6. The clock is ticking to a mere 13 seconds as coach John Vargas calls time out for CdM. The crowd holds its breath as the last few seconds are played. 6, 5, 4, 3 . . . the crowd goes wild as Likins scores the deciding point for the Sea Kings!

The varsity season was definitely one of the best CdM has ever had. Along with the CIF title, the Sea Kings captured first place in the league. The outstanding waterpolo team was characterized by excellent teamwork. Key players were goalie Jim Wagner, Eric Vinje, Jeff Harvey, and Jason Likins.

After winning the CIF title, Coach Vargas commented, "We just played well together as a team." 🏆

As crosstown rivals Corona del Mar and Newport Harbor enter the pool, deep concentration shows on each player's face. CdM's Frosh/Soph waterpolo team has not lost a game this season, and Newport wants to break this record. The game is back and forth; the Sea Kings score, the Tars score. In the fourth and final quarter, CdM scores to put them one above Newport. CdM's defense holds Newport Harbor, and the Sea Kings win a well-deserved victory over the Tars.

Along with varsity, the JV and frosh/soph teams had excellent seasons. JV, with outstanding player Mike Klarin, had a 14-3 record, placing them second in league. Frosh/Soph's superb starting team, consisting of Derek Dundas, Chip Blankenhorn, Brad Jacobsen, Gary Seelhorst, David Cesario, Greg Rhodes, and Chris Oeding, had a perfect record of 22-0 and an easy first place in league. The Frosh Sea Kings also won two waterpolo tournaments this season. Greg Rhodes, a Frosh/Soph player, commented, "I enjoy waterpolo not only because it's a great sport but also for the sense of respect and comradery that develops among the players." 🏆

It was the last match of the night, and Kelly Toon knew he had to win the point for his team to win the meet. The spectators watched quietly as he served the birdie. His opponent returned the service. The rally went on. Then Kelly smashed the birdie down right over the net. The hit was not returnable. Everyone stood up and cheered; CdM had won another match.

The badminton team could be found every morning at six a.m. running or working hard on their playing techniques in the gym. It was dedication and morale like this that helped CdM to a successful badminton season. Returning coach Kim Crawford felt the team showed much improvement in each game, with the help of returning varsity players Kelly Toon, Ryan Sierra, and Tobin Giblin. 🏸

The gymnastics team vaults to victory

Lily Lee stands back from the vault, eyeing it with concentration. As she raises her arms to signal her beginning, the spectators hush. Their eyes follow her run toward the vault. Lily jumps on the spring board and gracefully reaches for the vault to perform a beautiful handstand. She dismounts. The audience claps loudly.

In competition, the gymnasts competed in four basic compulsory events: beam, uneven parallel bars, vault, and floor. During competition, each girl competed in a maximum of two events. A large number of girls tried out for the gymnastics team, and coach Sharon Trager had a difficult time choosing the team. In April, the CdM gymnastics team went up against their toughest competition, Ensign. "We hoped for a successful season and we accomplished that," stated Coach Trager. 🏆

-“IMAGINE THEM, IMAGINE US”

This dreary time of day
 no one about, no movement;
 just the sound of the howling wind.
 Lay on the other side of the sky;
 close your eyes and let your mind unwind —
 Let's take a trip!
 The beautiful people have all gone away,
 imagine them there,
 imagine us here.
 They have left us to pursue Isis-
 the beginning of all time,
 The elemental lady.
 Riding on her Egyptian wings,
 the clouds intoxicate them.
 We lay in the desert by the hypnotism of the pendant,
 the tears sting like the desert sun
 that burns our skin,
 We hope to find refuge in the heavens and peace in our hearts.

“HIS”

The building stood as a monument to his work,
 his life put to its design
 Beam upon beam
 nail upon nail
 its overpowering
 grandeur
 black yet pale
 the foreman asked,
 why so high, so wide, so strong to which he answered
 with a sigh
 why do you ask such a silly question,
 can't you see this thing is mine,
 my life's ambition
 every brick a moment of
 me,
 though some tainted with the darkness of sin and through each one a golden rod
 invisible on the outside
 For they are God!

"My Heart Is Strong"

My heart is strong, it has to be
Because it always belongs to me.
My life has been so full of men
I'll never fall in love again.

My heart is not a toy,
But when I gave it to a boy
He'd play with it for a while Then toss it away-but I would smile.
Because I am so used to this-
The way they talk, the way they kiss.
The way they look in your eyes,
All their promises-all of their lies.
I'm used to this treatment you see
Because love always happens to me.

When it happens now I'll grin
Because if they dump me-I still win.
I'd realize it right from the start
That they'd try to break my heart,
So I'd keep it tucked away
And bring it out on a rainy day.
They'd never know it but all along,
They were the ones who made
my heart strong.

“A VIOLENT NATURE”

As he slept the first icy chills of winter covered the garden like a blanket on a sick child. When he spoke, he felt thankful; not perceiving why, he entered the garden path. There, covered in an icy frost, was the Statue. Now it looked like an illuminated ghost. “A ghost of winter,” he thought.

He became cold, but he didn’t care. He sat down next to the statue and stared. He’d never seen anything so beautiful.

Then the sun came out, peeking through holes in the clouds like a timid mouse through vines in the garden. He jumped to his feet, standing protectively in front of the glowing statue.

“No!” he shouted “Go away! You have no right!”

But nature listens to no one, and as he guarded the fated frost, a tear fell from his eye and mingled with the drops from the statue. It sparkled now. This was its most spectacular moment. The sun made the droplets shine and trickle down the statue, everywhere- little diamond drops- coming to life and swimming away forever.

For an instant, he was lost in the beauty of the moment. But it was only a moment. He could already see the cold peering out underneath the frost.

He kicked a chunk of fresh snow, then decided he didn’t want to see the statue thaw. He wandered towards the roses — his mother’s prize collection. They were even more delicate now — sleeping beauties encased in glass; frozen buds waiting for spring. They were hard crystals that break at the slightest touch. He touched them all.

“THOUGHTS”

I think, I dream, I ponder ...
I love you.

The depth of feeling
I concede in my heart cannot ever be seen by the eyes.

Heard by the ears.
or spoken by the mind

A treasure, so precious finer than gold
shinnier than silver
More precious than all.
An emotion,

A passion
A different kind of sense.
Such so, it can only be felt profoundly within a heart ...
My heart and yours.

Such as the peaceful look that builds our trust
The confident touch
that germinates our love
The intimate smile.
that lets me value
The affinity we share
which together we have grown.
Every glimpse of beauty I discover in you,
is a vision I have felt to see
of us ...
my life and yours ...

"ONE KISS"

Tonight is the night
The moon is just right

I look beyond the tree
To see a handsome man looking at me

Slowly he comes closer; I can see his face
Is this the time? Is this the place?

For fright I shed a tear
His loving smile drains away my fear

Now his face is close to mine
Sending tingles up my spine

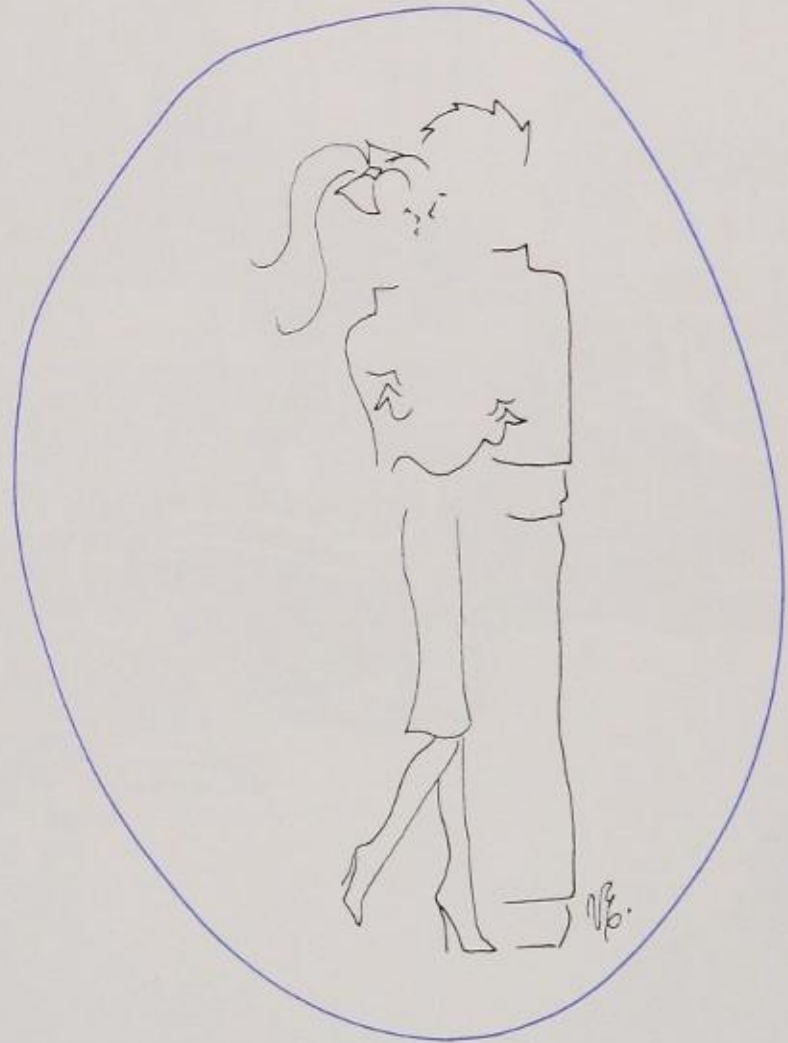

I feel two hands around my waist
So tightly woven as if laced

I gaze deeply into his eyes
I see they bare love, no lies

Gently we kiss
My face fills with bliss

I can feel my heart fill with bliss
I can feel when we part
That he holds the key to my heart

-Lisa Arcangelo

"THE BIG PLAY"

The crowd was buzzing in my ears
As hearts pumped with all might;
The quarterback yelled to his men:
"C'mon, boys, keep tight!"

And as we took our places,
'Twas a frightful sight to see
That he had thrown the football,
Thrown it right at me!

My feet jumped out from in their socks;
I quickly caught the ball —
And all at once I closed my eyes,
Afraid that I might fall.

I ran with all my power,
Reaching for each yard;
The blockers who passed by me
Were beaten up and scarred.

My shoulder pads were snapping;
As were all my joints —
But all the pain turned into joy
When I scored six more points!

"SUMMER"

Summer is my favorite time of year
 A time when I'm always in good spirits
 A time when I can act as I please
 A time when I can develop my self image
 A time when I can meet people easily
 A time when my life has no
 limitations
 A time when I have freedom to live as I choose
 A time when I can do things
 at my own pace
 A time when I can dream about anything I like,
 For as long as I like
 The only thing I dislike about summer
 -is the end of it.

-Katy O'Brien

"DREAMS"

Lying still as death
 In the silent dark
 I fall out of consciousness
 Into a different world
 A world of make-believe It's reality twisted out of proportion
 It is private, something only
 I can see
 And experience
 Made up of people I know and places I can see Or strange, foreign adventures that can only be imagined
 So intense I can explain to no one
 Not even I myself can recall these deep thoughts
 That enter my mind
 When the night is here and I lie in bed
 Lying still as death
 In the silent dark!

"DANCE"

I express my emotions in dance.
I go wild, I flow, I float, I prance.
Dance is a dream made by my.
I create my thought, and I let it free.
I let my body speak for me.
I can be sad, glad or even lonely.
I become someone new.
That my heart works through
To show my feelings in dance,
Anger, frustration, and, of course, romance.
Lovers dance to become one.
Children dance just for fun.
Sweethearts dance to be free,
But I-because dance ... is me.

Shuttle disaster stuns the world

On the morning of Jan. 28, 1986, the space shuttle Challenger exploded in mid-flight, sending a fireball into the Atlantic and killing the seven crew members. After 23 successful shuttle launches and numerous earlier rocket flights, this was the United States first shuttle catastrophe. Having come to expect successful shuttle flights, the world was stunned. Consequently, President Reagan postponed his State of the Union address, a day of national mourning and ceremonies was observed, and for months the media and newspapers buzzed with shuttle related stories. Article after article tried to explain the causes of this horrible disaster. Preliminary research suggested that the fuel line ignited as a result of the frigid weather at Cape Canaveral the morning of the launch. The unexpected shock at a shuttle accident equaled the shock experienced after Kennedy's assassination. This terrible accident clearly affected U.S. views of the space program and space exploration.

Showdown in Geneva

About 2,000 journalists descended upon the normally placid city of Geneva for the news event of the year. Ronald Reagan and the vigorous new Soviet leader, Mikhail Gorbachev finally met face to face in a lakeside mansion for the first U.S.-Soviet Summit in more than six years.

"My mission, simply stated, is a mission of peace," said Reagan. While arms control remained the predominant factor in the talks, the challenges of increasing human rights and reducing regional tension found a way into the meeting.

The summit may finally enable the United States and the Soviet Union to resume dealing with each other on a stable and predictable basis. There is already an agreement to meet next year. The Summit could be the first step towards world peace.

AIDS becomes an epidemic

With the death of movie actor Rock Hudson, 1985/86 saw Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS) added to the history of great epidemics. Just as polio, legionnaire's disease, tuberculosis, and leprosy in earlier years, AIDS set the country aflame with hysteria manifested in fear of blood transfusions, court trials to separate AIDS patients from schools, and an extensive social rejection of homosexuals. Although the panic was of an enormous scale, scientists persistently argued the small threat of AIDS due to its means of communicability- mostly blood transfusions and homosexual activity. As the Los Angeles Times commented, "The size of an epidemic often has little impact on the panic it can cause - or the lengths people will go to avoid it." The physiological scare of AIDS lay in the constantly altering structure of the HTVL-III virus which demanded a new cure for each new structure; such complexity made curability difficult and left scientists across the country confused. The mental epidemic, on the other hand, was caused by the imagination of the public, for as Medical Researcher at Columbia's University David Rothman said, "If you are older, you can remember something about polio in the summers. For the rest of American society, this is a very new experience."

New national holiday celebrates birthday of Martin Luther King

After giving his life for a notable cause, that of giving equality to the black people of America, Martin Luther King Jr. remains a powerful figure in American history. After twenty years King has finally been honored for his dedication to this most worthy goal. This year the U.S. recognized his greatness by making his birthday, Jan 20, a national holiday.

Terrorism threatens the world

Nov. 23, 1985 an Egypt Air Boeing 737, en route from Athens to Cairo with approximately 100 people on board, was hijacked. The Boeing 737 was forced down at Lugh Airport in Malta. The hijackers, who identified themselves as members of a group called Egypt's Revolution, demanded fuel to continue. But before they got fuel, rescue forces stormed the plane. The terrorists tried to defend themselves throwing three grenades which set off suffocating fires. Sixty people were confirmed dead including the captain who was shot during the rescue. After 17 days of captivity the rescue attempt was successful.

This was only one of the many terrorist acts that plagued the world this year. Not only were planes hijacked, but airports were bombed, and ships were seized by the PLO. In December, the Rome Airport was bombed, killing dozens of unsuspecting travelers. On Oct. 15, four PLO terrorists murdered Leon Klinghoffer, an invalid, aboard the Italian cruise ship, Achille Lauro. Such terrorist attacks have instilled fear and horror in the hearts of people all over the world.

Haley's Comet arrives after 76 years

The long awaited arrival of Halley's Comet in December 1985 and April 1986 prompted many people to turn into instant astronomers. Sales of telescopes and binoculars skyrocketed with people eager to catch a glimpse of the comet's first appearance in 76 years. However, due to the comet's position in relation to the earth's axis, Halley's Comet didn't appear to be more than a fuzzy ball in the skies - hardly the astronomical event which foreshadowed the decline of empires and the downfall of armies in previous centuries. The best view of the comet came in April when it reached its closest point to the earth - until it returns again in the year 2062.

Lottery helps California schools

The California lottery started the year as the most profitable state lottery in the nation. After only a few months, so many tickets were sold that every man, woman, and child in California had bought an average of approximately $20 worth of tickets! A large percentage of the money earned went to California schools, with the Newport-Mesa District receiving about $1.2 million. The money was divided in many ways, including $5 per student for supplies and a one percent teacher pay raise. CdM benefited directly by the allocation of extra money for certain supplies.

Aquino marks the end of dictatorship

"The long agony is over. We are finally free," declared Corazon Aquino, the new Philippine president. Feb. 25, 1986, marked a special day for the Philippine people when the 20-year reign of dictator Ferdinand Marcos ended upon his flight from the capital, Manila. While Marcos' departure ended the crisis that began with a corrupted presidential election Feb. 7, the Aquino supporters celebrated throughout the nation. Corazon Aquino, wife of the murdered Benigno, Marcos' main political opponent, represents a chance for a truly democratic form of government. The crowds demonstrated their enthusiasm for the new leader chanting "Cory! Cory! Cory!"

Pete Rose hits a record

After twenty-two years in the major leagues, the Cincinnati Reds player-manager Pete Rose became the all time hit leader in the history of the game by surpassing Tyrus Raymond Cobb at 4192 hits in his professional career. At 43, Rose continues to play the aggressive style of baseball that has made him a legend in his own time. He also continues to manage his team to a potential league championship.

CdM wins the bell

Ever since the opening of CdM in 1962, Newport Harbor and CdM have been rivals in both academics and sports.

Undoubtedly the greatest aspect of the rivalry seems to lie in the quest for the bell between the football teams when they meet annually and battle it out. Newport Harbor seems to have dominated CdM since the very first game-winning 18 out of 23 games-leaving CdM with only five victories.

This year the CdM football team proudly took the bell away from Newport Harbor. The Sea Kings overcame the Tars by a score of 15-14. This great victory marked the end of the Sea Kings' season.

Live Aid concert raises money for famine relief

The British Band Aid and the American U.S.A. for Africa records raised more than $60 million for famine relief, right? So why not pull together some of the world's biggest rock groups for a televised live concert to raise even more money for the starving. Sounds like a natural and simple idea; however, the promoters of this idea were faced with a lot of work.

Organizer Bob Geldof, music impresario Bill Graham, and producer Michell Mitchell saw the concert grow into an extravaganza that was a 17 hour battle of 63 bands, reaching some 1.5 billion people in 150 countries. The two simultaneous live concerts in London and in Philadelphia featured such artists as David Bowie, Elton John, Sting, Dire Straights, Mick Jagger, Bob Dylan, Madonna, Rod Stewart, and Tina Turner.

Raising $12 million, Live Aid succeeded in supplying food and care for helpless Africans as well as fortifying the American attitude.

T.V. shows gain a loyal teen following

In 1985, Miami Vice and The Cosby Show soared to the top of the Nielsen ratings and became the top two shows watched by teens in America. The slick, dynamic, action-packed show about crime-busting in Miami prompted new fashion trends and a new line of toys. The Cosby Show, depicting a large black family, has a faithful following of watchers that transcends the boundary of age by blending the comedy of Bill Cosby with the diversified characters of his family.

Out of Africa, The Color Purple top offering at the movies

At the movies, one could go to places never even dreamed of, even Africa. Out of Africa is a romantic tale set in the luscious plains of Kenya at the turn of the century. Meryl Streep plays a strong-willed yet gentle woman who marries her best friend to start a coffee farm in deepest Africa, where she meets and falls in love with Robert Redford. The Color Purple tells the story of a young black girl's struggle to become free of her tyrannical husband. She is treated terribly, but is changed forever by a jazz singer named Shug Avery, who allows her to find strength in herself and to live in beauty and pride.

Stars leave their marks

Unfortunately, the field of entertainment lost some of its brightest stars in the past year. Famous Broadway entertainer Yul Brenner, immortalized by his famous role in The King and I, proved that living forever was a role even beyond him. Ricky Nelson pioneered the earliest roots of rock and roll. He was idolized by millions of young Americans who loved his clean-cut look and down-to-earth lyrics. Film legend Rock Hudson was Hollywood's epitome of the "perfect man." Tall, good-looking, strong, and witty, Rock Hudson soon grew to become a film great. He appeared in dozens of movies, playing everything from gladiators to cowboys to sophisticated millionaires where Rock Hudson finished his career. Forever young Donna Reed was always the sweet mother next door yet something much more. She began her career alongside Jimmy Stewart in the 1946 classic, It's a Wonderful Life. Her career blossomed as she won an Oscar for best supporting actress in From Here to Eternity. She finished her career on Dallas — always smiling and laughing.

CdM's "trendy fashions"

This year students decked themselves out in all sorts of trendy fashions. Among the year's favorites were leggings and oversized blouses for girls with all sorts of fancy broaches and pins. High-neck, sleeveless turtlenecks came back into fashion, along with flat boots in the English riding style and the "Navajo look." Guys and girls alike could be caught in their new Reebok aerobic shoes.

Bruce Springsteen rocks the L.A. Colosseum

The wild chants of crazed fans screaming, "Bruce! Bruce!" were all that could be heard throughout the city of Los Angeles on that cool September night. They were screaming for Bruce Springsteen, the hard-driving rocker who, with the 1984 release of his "Born in the U.S.A." album, surpassed the fame of any other American artist.

In September of 1985, Springsteen wound up his Born in the U.S.A. World Tour in Los Angeles where, even after a year, the people were still on fire. He played four dates, averaging four hours a show, and every night satisfying over 100,000 people that had packed into the L.A. Colosseum to hear his words of inspiration and powerful rock music.

Miss Cella brings Latin alive, advises 3 clubs

"Ever since I was in ninth grade, where I was inspired by my Latin teacher, I have wanted to teach Latin."

In today's world, it is rare to find such a teacher so enthusiastic and dedicated to teaching Latin. In her teaching career, Miss Cella has taught Latin at OCC for five years and at CdM for nine years. Included in her school activities, Miss Cella is adviser for AFS, Keywanettes, and Latin Club. In her personal time, which is very little, Miss Cella takes a humanities course at OCC, belongs to many classical organizations, enjoys ballroom dancing, often travels to her family home in New York, and over the summer travels to Europe.

She stated, "I would rather teach Latin than do anything else in the world!" ☺

Jo Black: CdM's Shining Star!

It is five minutes until showtime; the curtain is about to open. Suddenly, a student rips his costume. Is the cast in a panic? No. Jo "Mom" Black has everything under control. This calm under pressure results from years of experience.

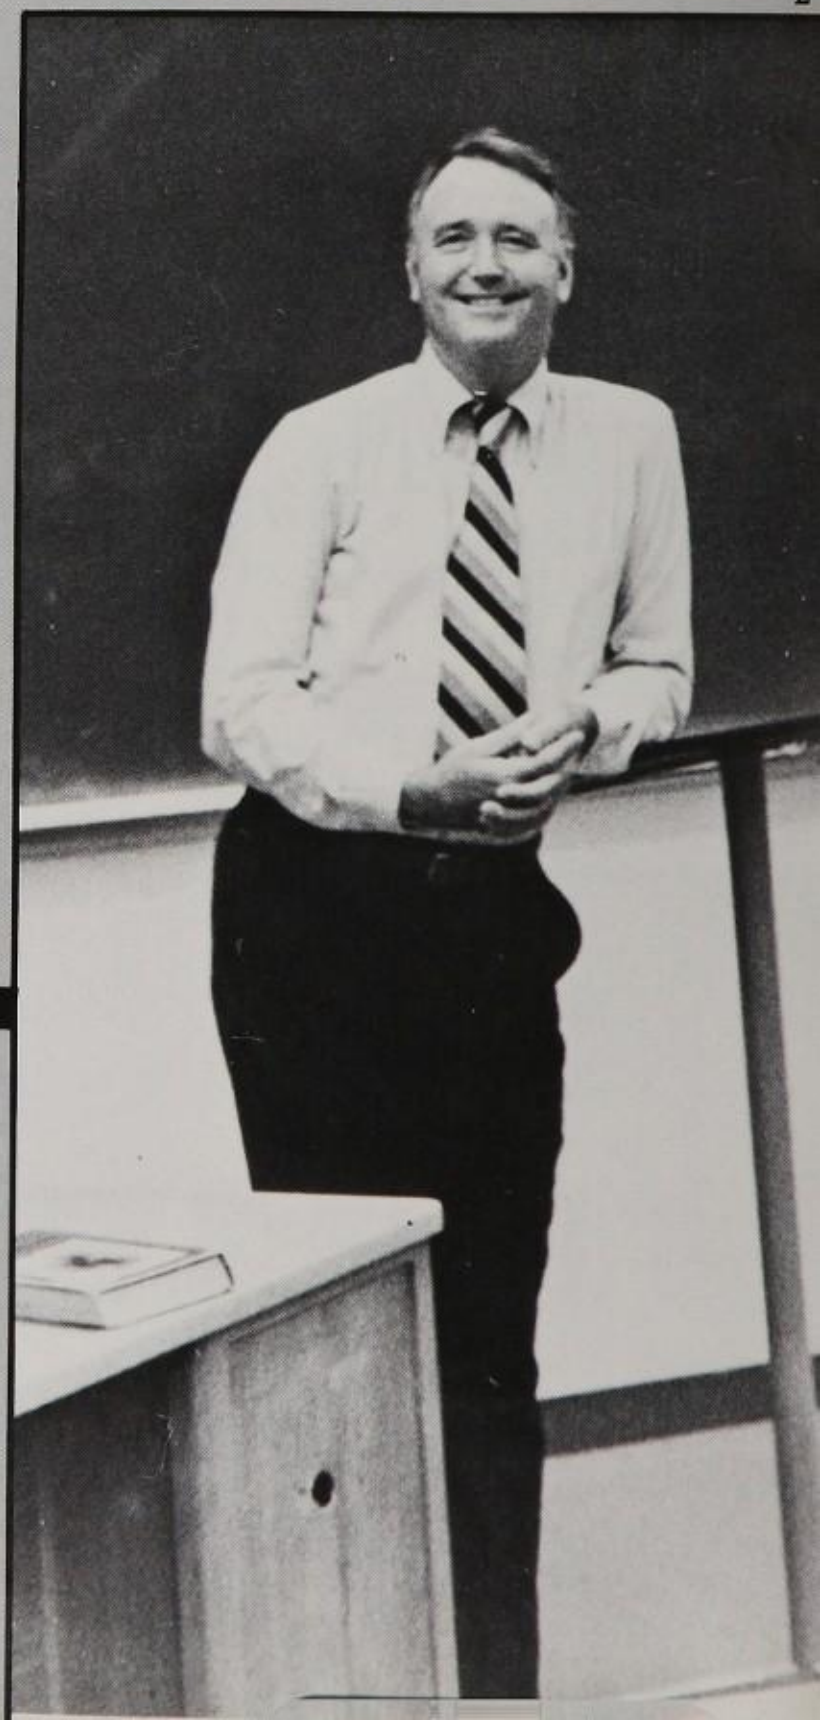

Throughout high school, Mrs. Black was a champion swimmer, a track star, and an actress. Forced to decide between swimming (aiming towards the Olympics) and acting, Mrs. Black chose the latter. Thus began her career in the theater.

Mrs. Black received her speech/drama degree at Hunter College, then completed two years of graduate work at UCI. She has taught theater arts for Coast Community College District since 1973 and at CdM for twenty years. Annie Get Your Gun and Carousel are two of the many productions in which she participated, including performances in New York, on and off Broadway. She has also directed more than eighty productions and numerous local T.V. shows.

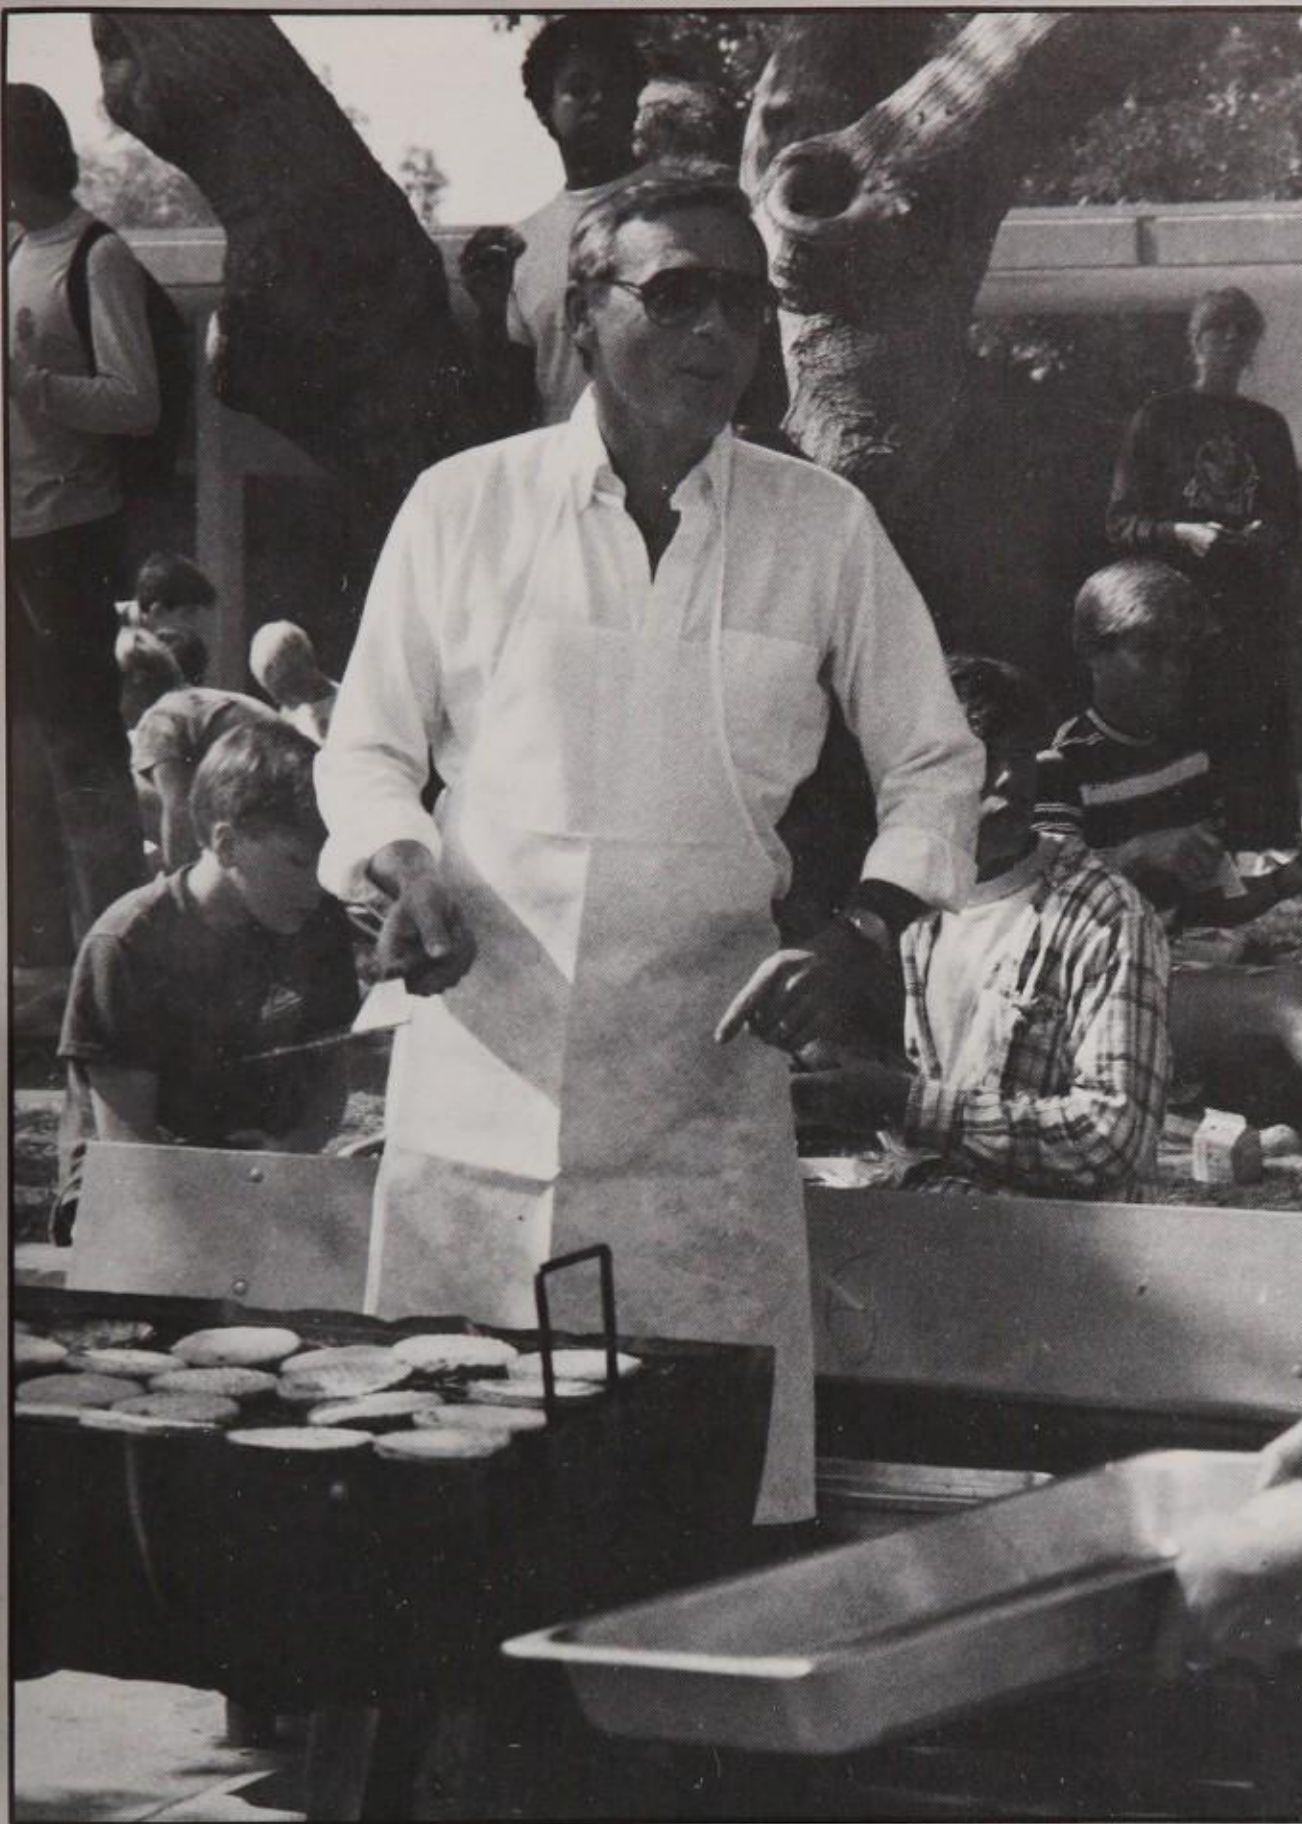

Aside from acting, Jo loves to paint and to travel. Mrs. Black also enjoys participating in various organizations: the Laguna Moulton Playhouse, American Theater Association, and the International Thespian Society.

Drama President Penny Buchanan describes Mrs. Black as a "tremendously supportive teacher. She is a wonderful person to learn from and to work with."

Dale Ghere Provides Good Role Model

Dale Ghere, when thinking back to high school, described himself as, "Not an exceptional student, but one involved in clubs, activities, and sports." He even dropped out of college for a year of surfing around the world. He said, "That year off ended up as the focal point of my life; that's when I decided to become a teacher and became serious about my studies."

Important priorities in his life now include, "religion, health, teaching, and family." Mr. Ghere is a family-man and spends much time with his wife Marilyn, his son Ryan, and his daughter Marla. Mr. Ghere wants to be a good role model for both his kids and students. He said, "It is important for students to have models to give direction to their lives." As for his own role models, Mr. Ghere said, "My role model for parenting was my father; my role model for teaching was John Johnson, former CdM science teacher."

In 1978, Mr. Ghere and his family faced a major tragedy when their Laguna Beach home slid off the hillside. It took three years to rebuild the house. Students then attending CdM raised $11,000 for the Ghere family, making it possible to rebuild rather than relocate. Students and faculty members spent hours helping the Gheres rebuild. Out of this experience he gained lots of love and many friendships. ☺

Freedoms survive on CdM campus

Freedom. That's a word most often associated with the Revolutionary War or Abraham Lincoln and his Emancipation Proclamation. Here at CdM, students experience a different kind of freedom. This freedom comes in the form of 18 year old notes, lunch passes, and the freedom to choose what classes a student wishes to take. The most prominent of these freedoms is the ability for 18 year-old students to write their own absence excuses. Last year this freedom was revoked because the administration believed it was being abused by seniors. However, this freedom was reinstated after a long battle between ASB leaders and the CdM administration, to the great relief of many seniors. In regard to the 18 year-old note rule, Susie Paulsen commented, "I believe the rule is very advantageous for the seniors." CdM students are blessed with so many freedoms in fact, that sometimes these opportunities are taken but not appreciated. CdM students are allowed to obtain a lunch or five period day pass when they reach the age of 16. In most schools outside this area, students are not allowed to leave school under any circumstances. ☺

Working provides experience

Between a heavy academic load and a busy social life, many students find time to work off-campus. Jobs range from serving ice-cream to selling clothing and even to making and delivering pizza. Whether it's for money, fun, or experience, jobs usually require at least sixteen hours a week. "I worked at the Chipyard for about 10 hours a week and made enough money to buy a car," said Susan Bond. Like Susan, some students make enough money to pay for a car or even part of their college education. After students learn to cope with the working world, many move up the ladder of success to the position of manager. "It's not that big a deal, but it's hard to get everything organized," commented Sean Carroll, the manager of Glacé. With the excitement of being in charge comes many responsibilities including opening the store in the morning and locking it at night, counting the profits at the end of the day, and ordering supplies. This becomes quite a heavy responsibility, and parents, teachers, and fellow peers should celebrate the incredible work these students accomplish. 🍕

CdM relaxes during spare time

Jogging along the sandy beach of Corona del Mar, biking up a steep hill, and cruising down to Cabo San Lucas are all a part of the recreational scene for many CdM students. When 3 p.m. finally arrives, some students head for the big surf, while others drive to Fashion Island to engage in a shopping spree. After waiting through a long school week, many rush with enthusiasm to the snow covered mountains where they will swish through perfect powder. Others caravan to the tall palm trees and the warm sun's rays of the popular Palm Springs. When not diligently studying at school, most students participate in some form of recreation to relax their minds. ☺

Students serve community

Everyone knows that charity begins in the home, but here at CdM, charity begins in the clubs and in the charity organizations. These clubs, most of which are student organized and managed, include Key Club, Candystripers, the Tick-Tockers and the Charity League. Key Club, led by president Tim Galusha, takes part in various community activities from playing bingo with the senior citizens at the Oasis Senior Citizen Center to visiting a Tijuana orphanage. Another student organized club is Candystripers. They visit hospitals, bringing joy to the patients by decorating the rooms when a holiday arrives, bringing around flowers and magazines, and just making life more enjoyable for the patients. Melanie McGiffin, president of Candystripers commented, "I joined the Candystripers because I wanted to help out people who were a bit less fortunate than myself." There are basically two charity organizations in this area: the Tick-Tockers and Charity League. In both clubs, students must put in a specific number of hours working within the community. Beside the numerous student-organized clubs there are many parent established organizations. PTA, one such organization, bridges the gap between the CdM administration and the community. The money they raise is put directly back into the school through scholarships and special projects within the school. To raise money for the student body and various sports, booster clubs were formed. Superboosters, one of the most prominent booster clubs, takes donations from families and splits them into two amounts. The first can go to any club that the doner designates and the other amount goes straight to a general booster fund. Also, for each sport or activity there is a separate booster club that raises money for that individual sport or activity. ❦

CdM enjoys its accomplishments

"Celebrating the crown means enjoying what we've accomplished while having the ability to continue challenging ourselves, whether it's reaching a personal goal or contributing to another person," according to Megan Griswold. The celebrations of school and community, jobs and recreation, and freedom and spirit provide a challenge. By meeting this challenge, the students of CdM, with the ability to improve themselves, their peers, and their community, have made their school an exemplary institution. An active social life, including friendships and romances, have enhanced our academic achievements. Corona del Mar celebrates its crown. 👑

Teryn -

Hey Babe! I love ya lots. You're such a cutie. We've had a totally good year. You and Brandon are the cutest. I'm really glad you & I became better freinds this year. Remember in G.A.T.E.! We just hated each other. I'm glad it's not like that anymore! You're ~~too~~ sweet for anyone not to like you. I'm really glad we were both involved in New Life. That really helped me strengthen my relationship with God, I hope it helped you too. Well, I'm not going to say good bye because I know you'll call me every day this summer. You'd better!! I love ya lots & so does God. Stay sweet forever.

I didn't put that there for the heck of it, CALL ME!! I ♥ ya!

Teryn-
 Have a great summer and I hope you had a great year. I know I did. I hope you have
 at the beach and where ever you go! I am so

Teryn,

Well we made through another year.
 Believe or not. I am so glad that we are still friends. I will probably see you this summer, but have fun anyway. Only 4 more years in this great world. Have a fun summer. Love

Ternyn,

I'm sorry about Brandon. but it will be OK. Right now I think he's slick with a Capitol D. Thanks for being my friend.

I better see you this summer if I dont
call me, 720-9019 if you get lonely. sad

T-

Well it has been a great year! I have had so much fun, especially 1st semester in Drama. That was the best. I hope you had just as much fun as I did. There are so many memories just in that. The plays that we did, Mrs. Black's boring lectures, all the fun we had with everyone. Do you remember Love puppy? And the jar on the stage. That was a summer it did stink. Remember Mike and the bottom of your Reebaks? Well T, it was all lots of fun. Coach Mouse is a jerk. He doesn't even remember our names. Oh well! I don't know what I would have done without you all those different times. You helped me alot! We have had alot of fun together and I know it will continue. We will deffinately do something together this summer. I hope we have alot of classes together next year. I don't know what I would have done without you in history. Remember Horace, Hildigard, Jill and I made for you. If I find it, I'll bring it. Well I see you later!

Love,
Heather

Telyn,
It's been a year.
pretty cool summer is
I know this summer is going to be the best one yet.
don't break to many guys that hearts, and keep up that
